'Mr. Republican' Is Dead

SEN. ROBERT A. TAFT—"Mr. Republican" is dead at 63.

Taft Loses Cancer Battle

NEW YORK (AP)—Sen. Robert A. Taft, a symbol of Republicanism, died Friday of cancer.

The end came peacefully for the 63-year-old Ohio Republican, about 13 hours after he had lapsed into a deep coma.

At his side were his four sons.

Taft's condition suddenly had become critical just four days ago. Then, except for brief intervals, his strength failed rapidly. Not until the end did New York hospital disclose the cause.

"Sen. Taft's life came to an end quietly and without pain at 9:30 a.m. CST, July 31, 1953," the hospital said. "His death was the result of widespread, highly malignant, rapidly growing tumors."

* * *

TAFT'S WIDOW, Martha, was unable to be with him in his last hours.

Herself seriously ill as a result of a stroke three years ago, she was at their home in Washington, too sick to make another trip. She had been flown here for a visit Tuesday.

No funeral plans were announced immediately for the senator, son of President William Howard Taft.

Two of the senator's sons, William Howard Taft III, ambassador to Ireland, and Horace Taft, left for Washington shortly after their father died, presumably to discuss funeral plans with their mother.

Another son, Lloyd, was staying in New York with Taft's body, while the fourth, Robert, was returning home to Cincinnati.

* * *

A MOVE WAS under way in the Senate in Washington to hold a state funeral at the Capitol for Taft.

A Senate official, who asked not to be named, said many members were proposing such a service. He added that Mrs. Taft and the senator's sons will be consulted as to their desires before any official statement is made.

Taft's death came in a new and major chapter in his career—the job of majority Senate floor leader in the first Republican administration in 20 years.

His illness, however, forced him to give up the active leadership in June.

* * *

IN DESCRIBING the senator's last grim fight for life, the hospital said:

"The first symptoms . . . were pains in the legs, later localized in the left hip. These symptoms had their onset in the latter part of April, 1953, and in the beginning were very obscure.

"However, the disease could not be controlled, and eventually progressed relentlessly despite the application of all the therapeutic weapons available to modern science."

* * *

IT WAS LEARNED that some time ago, while Taft was on crutches in Washington, a prominent doctor informed him of the nature of his illness and he replied to this effect:

"You will find me the most willing guinea pig you ever had."

Then he volunteered to aid medical science by faithfully reporting all symptoms and every twinge of disorder he could observe.

Taft had told reporters he noticed a pain in his left hip about April 15, four days before he flew to Augusta, Ga., to play golf with President Eisenhower. He carried on his official duties until June 10.

* * *

THEN, ON CRUTCHES, he announced that leading doctors had told him his condition was serious and that he was giving up the Senate Republican floor leadership.

The disorder had been treated previously in Cincinnati, Washington, and New York. After the exploratory operation July 8, it was announced he was expected to remain in the hospital two weeks. But on July 27 the hospital said he needed further treatment.

The next day it was announced his condition had deteriorated. His family was called.

Besides Mrs. Taft, the survivors include a brother, Charles P. Taft, Cincinnati lawyer, government management authority, and churchman; a sister, Dr. Helen Herron Taft Manning, former dean and acting president of Bryn Mawr College and now professor of history there; and his four sons.

President: Loss to U.S. Tragic

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower called the death of Sen. Robert A. Taft "A tragic loss to America."

Within an hour after announcement of the Ohio senator's death in New York, the President and Mrs. Eisenhower drove from the White House to the home of Mrs. Taft in Georgetown to express their sympathy.

Eisenhower issued this statement:

"The passing of Robert A. Taft is a tragic loss to America.

"The brilliant son of our 27th President, Sen. Taft served the people of Ohio and the nation with distinction and integrity.

* * *

"HE WILL be greatly missed on Capitol Hill where his unimpeachable character and his vast knowledge of the business of good government played such an important part in congressional decisions over many years.

"The Senate has lost one of its leading members of all time. The American people have lost a truly great citizen and I have lost a wise counselor and a valued friend.

"Mrs. Eisenhower and I extend to Mrs. Taft and the family our heartfelt sympathies in the personal loss that they have sustained."

A hush of mourning, more eloquent than words, greeted the news of Taft's death in the Senate where he had been so long a towering figure.

* * *

NEWS OF TAFT'S death first was passed to Sen. Knowland of California to whom Taft turned over the reins of GOP floor leadership.

Sen. Bricker of Ohio, one of Taft's closest co-workers, made the formal announcement and other senators took the floor for tributes.

In San Francisco former President Herbert Hoover declared:

"Sen. Taft was my devoted friend over the 35 years since he joined me in public service during the first World War. Sen. Taft was more nearly the irreplaceable man in American life than we have seen in three generations."

* * *

IN ALBANY, N. Y., Gov. Thomas E. Dewey termed the death of Taft "A tragic loss to the country."

"History surely will rank him with those Americans who have made imperishable contributions to the welfare of the United States through his long and courageous service in the Senate."

Former President Harry Truman called Taft's death "a great loss" and said:

"He and I did not agree on public policy but he knew where I stood and I knew where he stood . . . we need intellectually honest men like Sen. Taft in public service."

And John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers who has engaged in epic battles with Taft over labor policy and the application of the Taft-Hartley law, said his death was "a tragic loss to America."

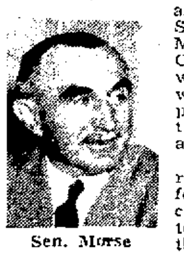
* * *

HERE IS OTHER representative comment from the Capitol:

Secretary of State Dulles—"We were friends and associates for upwards of 40 years. I have thus had the privilege of knowing Sen. Taft intimately and appreciated his statesmanlike qualities of mind and of heart which made him one of the great statesmen and enlightened political forces of our time."

'Ethical Obligation' Expressed

WASHINGTON (AP) — Continued Republican control of the Senate—despite presumptive appointment of a Democrat to succeed Sen. Robert A. Taft—was assured when Sen. Wayne Morse (Ind-Ore) said he would vote with the Republicans if the issue arose.



Sen. Morse

Morse told reporters he feels an "ethical obligation to vote with the Republicans on Senate organizational issues."

He added:

"The people of the nation in the election of 1952 voted the Republican party into power and I shall abide by that mandate on Republican control of the Senate until the people have the chance in 1954 to review their decision.'

Gov. Frank J. Lausche of Ohio is a Democrat and presumably will appoint a member of his party to the Senate seat left vacant by the death of Sen. Taft.

That would make the Senate party lineup 48 Democrats, 47 Republicans and 1 Independent.

This presumes that the successor to the late Sen. Tobey (R-NH) will be a Republican.

With Morse voting with the Republicans, there would be a 48-48 tie on organizational questions. Republican Vice President Nixon could break such ties in favor of his party.

'Irreparable Loss,' Says State GOP

Nebraska's Republican leaders called the death of Sen. Robert Taft "an irreparable loss to the nation and the Republican party."

*Gov. Robert Crosby said, "Regardless of whether a person may have agreed or disagreed with Sen. Taft, everyone had to recognize his exceptional character which rose above his disappointment in his presidential aspirations. His lack of bitterness as he worked with President Eisenhower for the best interests of the nation showed an unusual and rare character. A great man."

State Republican Chairman Dave Martin of Kearney termed the loss of Sen. Taft "a tragic blow to the entire world."

Terming Sen. Taft "one of our outstanding statesmen," Martin said the Ohio legislator "was one of the most profound thinkers the country has ever produced. His loss will be a severe blow not only to the Republican party but to the entire country."

Mrs. Edna Baslen Donald of Grand Island, Republican national committeewoman, said the loss was not only for the party but for the nation.

"Bob Taft had the best legal mind on Capitol Hill in Washington. I had come to know the senator and Mrs. Taft rather well during the past few years and that has come to be my opinion," Mrs. Donald said.

"The loss of such a man would be a calamity for the party at any time and the critical balance now existing between the two parties in the Senate makes the situation more serious," Mrs. Donald added.

Republican National Committeeman Abe Shotwell of Omaha and former Sen. Fred Seaton of Hastings were both out of the state and unavailable for comment.

Sen. Taft was last in Nebraska last October, two weeks before the election. He spoke in Hastings and Omaha on Oct. 16.

Reds Say POWs Readied

Sick, Wounded First on List

Compiled from Press Reports

PANMUNJOM, Korea — Peiping Radio announced the Communists had alerted the first group of American prisoners to prepare for the 200-mile journey to Panmunjom and freedom.

The official "voice" of Red China said British, French, Turkish and other non-Korean captives also had been advised to get ready for the trip.

The broadcast named only three of the prisoners who will ride on the first convoy. They were two Americans—Samuel S. Thomas, a medic, and a Robert Gleason—and British prisoner Elbert Campbell. Their ranks and hometowns were not given.

The radio said that U.S. sick and wounded prisoners would be among the first to be returned next week.

* * *

ANOTHER BROADCAST said Frank Noel, AP photographer captured in the winter of 1950, "was kept very busy shooting pictures" during a "farewell banquet" given prisoners at Pyoktong. That is a prison camp near the Yalu River opposite Manchuria.

The prisoners of war were expected to arrive in the Communist base camp at Kaesong shortly before the scheduled Aug. 5 start of "Operation Big Switch," the exchange of 12,000 Allied prisoners for 74,000 North Koreans and Chinese held by the United Nations.

The first Communist captives held by the Allies arrived in the Panmunjom area under heavy guard.

* * *

NEW RED accusations of supposed truce violations came as the Korean Military Armistice Commission and other truce groups met at Panmunjom.

The Communists said military aircraft circled and reconnoitered over the zone Wednesday and Thursday.

Accuser Not Recognized

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Rev. Jaack Richard McMichael, confronted by a man who accused him of being a one-time Communist, told the House un-American Activities Committee: "I don't know him."

The accuser was Manning Johnson, a middle-aged Negro.

McMichael, from Upper Lake, Calif., assailed his hearing earlier as un-American and un-Christian. McMichael said he had been subjected to a procedure "based on a principle that would have condemned Jesus—guilt by association."

Soviets Save B-50 Crew; U. S. Protests Downing

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States has protested to Moscow against the shooting down of a U.S. B-50 plane in the Sea of Japan and called on the Russians to release survivors it "presumed" were picked up by Soviet vessels.

One of the plane's crew of 17—Capt. John E. Roche of Washington, D. C.—was rescued by an American destroyer and was quoted by the U.S. Far East Air Force as saying Russian fighters attacked the B-50.

Capt. Roche is a native of Newcastle, Neb., near Ponca.

The plane was shot down Wednesday. On Thursday, Moscow charged the B-50 violated Soviet territory, fired on Soviet fighters arising to intercept it, and disappeared in the direction of the sea.

* * *

GEN. O. P. WEYLAND, commander of U.S. Far East Air Forces, said: "No American airplane has violated Soviet territory."

The incident is one in a long series of clashes with the Soviets over shooting down of U.S. planes. Moscow has insisted in each instance that the plane violated Soviet territory. The United States has contended there was no violation.

This is the first time, however, that there has been any suggestion that survivors were taken into Russian custody.

A State Department official said he did not know the number of survivors reported to be in Soviet hands. The protest to Moscow said "information has . . . been received that . . . survivors have been picked up by Soviet vessels."

* * *

THE DEPARTMENT released the text of a note delivered by Ambassador Charles Bohlen to Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko:

"I have been instructed by my government to protest in the strongest terms against the shooting down by Soviet aircraft on July 29 of a United States Air Force RB-50 airplane which was on a routine navigational training mission over the sea of Japan.

Roche was snatched from the water by a Navy destroyer, the Picking, after having been in the water 11 hours and spending another 11 hours in a boat dropped by a search plane.

Weyland's headquarters said Roche was in good physical condition and had only bruises on his head and face suffered when he bailed out of the bomber.

J. P. Colbert Speaks to NU Graduates

Graduate List on Page 7

Keep your scholastic curiosity sharp.

This was the keynote of an informal talk J. Philip Colbert, dean of the University of Nebraska's division of student affairs, gave to the University's summer session commencement class in the Student Union auditorium.

The commencement ceremony, first held during the summer in the University's 83-year history, marked the end of the current school year. Three hundred sixteen degrees were awarded.

Acting Chancellor John K. Selleck conferred the doctors' degrees. Students receiving masters' and undergraduate degrees called for their diplomas at the Administration building immediately following the program.

In his informal talk to the class, Dean Colbert told the graduates they represent an important investment in America's future and, because of their training, have the responsibility of helping in the advance of research.

It is difficult, he said, to measure the tremendous value of research to the well-being of mankind.

"It is to you who have been taught how to think analytically," Dean Colbert told the class, "that we look to continue the probe into the unknown. You are an investment in tomorrow."

Harlan Co. Error Is Adjusted

Another Story on Page 13.

Admission of a clerical error on their part by Harlan County officials brought swift relief from the State Board of Equalization.

A delegation from Harlan County, headed by Co. Atty. D. A. Russell and State Sen. Tom Coffey, both of Alma, appeared to explain the error. (See page 13.)

County officials had included in the abstract sent to the state a total farm land acreage figure which included land sold to the Federal Government for the Harlan County Reservoir.

The resulting low per acre value brought a 78 per cent boost in Harlan County farm land assessments from the board.

But after hearing the Harlan County explanation, the state board cut the increase back to 53 per cent.

Cooling Unit Shutoff Aids Water Supply

A decrease of approximately three-fourth million gallons in water demand Thursday brought from Mayor Clark Jeary a tribute to those business men who volunteered to cut off cooling systems one-half hour earlier and to all other people co-operating.

The Thursday demand dropped to 30,488,750 gallons. Reservoirs early Friday continued water to depths of 14.5 and 14.8 feet as compared with 14 and 13 respectively Thursday morning, a definite improvement, according to Public Works Director D. L. Erickson.

Jeary received request for the oiling of 56th Street, south of O, to settle the dust. He said that if this were done for one neighborhood, others would want the same treatment and that no money was appropriated for such purposes.

Streeft lushers have not been used since about June 15.

Committee OKs Debt Limit Hike

Senate May Put Off Issue

WASHINGTON (AP)—The House Ways and Means Committee approved with lightning speed Friday President Eisenhower's request to increase the national debt limit by $15,000,000,000.

The vote was 17 to 6 to approve the increase, but in the Senate there was talk of putting off the issue for a possible special session in September or October.

With adjournment fever running high, the committee acted less than 24 hours after Eisenhower sent a special message to Congress asking that the debt limit be raised from $275,000,000,000 to $290,000,000,000.

* * *

THE PRESIDENT said the national debt is expected to exceed $275,000,000,000 before the scheduled return of Congress next January.

House leaders were prepared to call the bill up quickly for action on the House floor. House Speaker Joseph W. Martin Jr. (R-Mass) said he was sure the House would approve the measure.

* * *

THE SITUATION was different in the Senate, however. Many senators, including some Republicans, said they were determined to oppose the President's request. There was some question about whether the Senate Finance Committee would approve it.

Youth's Mother Going to Side

Mrs. John Koch, mother of John LeRoy Koch, 15, of 5744 South, plans to leave for Washington, D.C., Saturday afternoon to seek legal counsel for her son who is in custody of juvenile authorities. He had disappeared earlier from a Colorado resort.

The youth was picked up with Edward Patrick Scully Jr., 20, of Boston, and his wife, Brenda Reilly Scully, the Associated Press reported.

Scully is being held on a $2,500 bond on a chrge of breaking into a Washington house.

Washington police said Scully acknowledged $5,000 worth of jewelry in his Mayflower Hotel room had been stolen in coast to coast burglaries.

Scully was the only one charged.

Mrs. Koch said her trip would be financed by sale of the family car. A daughter, Cathy, 19, gave up her savings for a November wedding for her mother's trip.

Panhandle Might Get Soaked Again

Rain-soaked Nebraskans of the Panhandle, cleaning up after flash floods, may get further precipitation Friday night and Saturday while residents of the rest of the state continue to swelter in a summer heat wave.

Although spared from further rains Thursday night, the Panhandle area was due to get local thundershowers through Saturday.

* * *

CLEAN-UP of flash flood debris Friday continued in Sidney, Kimball, Potter and Gurley, hardest hit by heavy rains this week.

Gurley: Mayor E. H. Reinmuth of Gurley said the town had 4½-5 inches of rain late Wednesday night but it did not cause any serious damage.

Potter: Residents welcomed the rain even though it caused some basement flooding, according to Marshal Emil Nelson.

Sidney: Mayor Jack Lowe said everything was "quieted down" following the flooding Thursday morning of Lodgepole Creek, which forced two families to evacuate.

Kimball: Sheriff George Bradt at Kimball said there was flooding in that area Thursday with water over Highway 30 in several places. He said there was some damage to Kimball streets. Approaches to several county bridges were washed out.

Foreign Aid Bill, Cut, Approved by House

Compiled from Press Reports

WASHINGTON — The House approved a $6,652,422,390 foreign aid bill compromise, 237-156. The bill, carrying almost $700 million less than President Eisenhower asked, now goes to the Senate for action.

A Senate-House conference committee settled on the compromise in the congressional drive for adjournment.

There was also progress on Eisenhower's request for a $15 billion-increase in the national debt limit—the House ways and means committee approved it, 17-6.

* * *

HOWEVER, the death of Sen. Robert A. Taft left virtually no chance the lawmakers could wind up the session this week end.

The House, before accepting the foreign aid bill, narrowly rejected a motion to cut it still further. An attempt to trim $211 millions out of it was turned down by a vote of 200-192.

The final version was drafted by a conference committee which met until nearly midnight to adjust differences between House and Senate versions of the appropriations bill.

The compromise bill carried $4,530,457,999 in new funds, plus authority to spend $2,121,964,391 in unobligated money previously appropriated, or a total program of $6,652,422,390 for the current fiscal year.

* * *

BARRING an unexpected snag, the bill was expected to go to the White House in this form.

President Eisenhower had asked for $5,138,922,277 in new cash, plus $2,182,815,979 in old funds, for a total program of $7,321,738,256.

* * *

ON BOTH the new cash and the carryover funds, the conference committee went almost all the way toward the more liberal figures approved by the Senate.

The House had approved a total program of $6,196,688,179 and the Senate voted $6,745,318,202.

The largest item in the conference agreement was $3,180,000,000 in new cash for military assistance to U.S. Allies.

Lancaster Levy Estimate 3.9 Mills

County Might Have Its Largest Budget

Lancaster County is shooting for a tax levy under 4 mills this year, and Commissioner Chairman Russell Brehm now estimates the levy at 3.9 mills.

This would be .6 of a mill under last year's levy and .3 under a previous estimate of 4.2.

Slashing some $37,000 from money requested by county department heads, the county board also facilitated a decrease in taxes by transferring $120,000 from the inheritance tax fund to the general, medical and road funds.

* * *

AN INCREASE in valuation by the State Board of Equalization, however, is largely responsible for the expected tax cut.

The county may possibly wind up with the largest budget in history—roughly $3,380,000—and the smallest tax levy in years.

* * *

COMMISSIONERS feel this will be an accomplishment, since a medical assistance appropriation of about $150,000 previously paid by the state is included in the county tax for the first time.

Office by office, the commissioners have tentatively agreed on the following budgets to be paid out of tax funds. Most cuts were in equipment, salaries and miscellaneous items.

County PMA Group Elects

Lancaster County's Production and Marketing Administration committee was re-elected at its county meeting.

Serving again for the coming year will be:

Richard Letterdink of Hickman, chairman
Pat O'Halloran of Rt 3, vice chairman.
Glenn Umberger of Rt 5, committeeman

William Daft of Waverly was named first alternate and James Doolittle of Roca was re-elected second alternate. The 24 county delegates who selected the committee also discussed plans for the coming year.

Fire Near Falls City Burns Barn, 4 Calves

FALLS CITY (UP)—Huge quantities of hay and four calves were burned in a fire which destroyed a barn on the Henry Gatz farm near here, officials said. Destroyed were 200 bales of clover, 30 tons of chopped hay, 700 bushels of oats, and 500 bales of straw.

1,000 Planes Lost by AF North of Lines

TOKYO (AP)—Far East Air Forces reported it lost 1,000 warplanes behind Red lines in the Korean war, 20 less than the number of Red planes destroyed.

FEAF did not include Allied losses behind U.N. lines.

FEAF said it lost 110 planes in aerial duels, 667 to Red ground fire and 213 to "other causes" (usually engine failure).

It said 58 U.S. Sabre jets were lost in the three-year conflict while blasting 800 Red MIG jets from the skies, a ratio of almost 14 to 1.

* * *

B-29 BOMBER gunners got 16 other MIGs, and 23 went to Fifth Air Force fighter-bombers.

The figures included the Korea-based Fifth Air Force; Australian, South African and South Korean units; shore based Marine planes; and B-29 bombers flying from Japan and Okinawa. They did not include Navy carrier-based planes.

In addition to the 839 MIGs, 181 other planes were destroyed by FEAF fliers. FEAF said 182 Red planes probably were destroyed, including 154 MIGs, and 1,010 Communist planes were damaged, including 919 MIGs.

* * *

FEAF SAID the last plane it lost in the Korean war was an F-80 Shooting Star reconnaissance craft.

FEAF planes flew 836,877 individual flights.

Nearly 450,000 tons of bombs were dropped, an average of almost 400 tons for every day of the war.

An average of 162,000 rounds of .50 caliber ammunition was fired every day.

FEAF reported 1,000 locomotives, 10,400 rail cars, 83,000 vehicles, 1,300 tanks, 120,000 buildings and 1,200 bridges were destroyed. In addition, it claimed 200,000 Communist troop casualties.

'Cover Up' Fails

COPENHAGEN, Denmark (AP) A woman patient left a Copenhagen hospital after four months and a serious operation. She slipped and fell on the stairway, broke her leg and went right back in.

When examined, she had six brand new hospital towels wrapped around her waist under her dress.

Sanitary Levy Of 2 Mills Confirmed

Trustees of Sanitary District 1 have confirmed the flat 2-mill levy they had certified to County Clerk J. M. Morgan.

In a communication mailed to the Lancaster County board of commissioners which had asked Sanitary District Trustees to reconsider its levy—they informed Chairman Russell Brehm they would not alter their levy.

Trustees heard R. H. Van Boskirk, auditor of the Sanitary District, assert that valuations a year ago were $138,046,000, and that valuations this year (after adding $5 million in estimated new construction and $26,220,000 as the estimated 19 per cent gain, and after subtracting estimated losses totaling $11,340,000) would probably be $157,926,000.

Van Boskirk applied a 2-mill levy to this and estimated it would produce $315,825, or $25,956 more than the $289,896 produced by the 2-mill levy, plus 5 per cent, of last year's levy.

Trustees said they found it necessary to register warrants, at 4 per cent interest, to carry out improvements, including the sewage disposal plant and need for taking care of sewage from the Lincoln Air Base.

When asked about the trustees' action, County Commissioner Chauncey F. Barney said, "There's no comment we can make . . . it's their responsibility."

BOEING B-47 STRATOJET BOMBER PRODUCTION

Several hundred additional men are needed immediately to help produce the six-jet B-47 bomber at Boeing Airplane Company, Wichita, Kansas. Most critical needs include:

★ SHEET METAL ASSEMBLERS
★ PRIMARY ASSEMBLERS
★ FINAL ASSEMBLERS
★ MACHINE OPERATORS
★ MODIFICATION MECHANICS

In addition, 120 male trainees must be hired each week to fill openings now developing in sheet metal and primary assembly work.

WRITE FOR BOOKLET

If you are unable to personally visit our employment office, wire or write for an employment application and a copy of a descriptive booklet about Boeing and the city of Wichita. Address Employment Manager, Boeing Airplane Company, 233 N. Water, Wichita, Kansas.

Contact the Boeing Employment Office, 233 N. Water, Wichita, Kansas, Monday through Friday, 8 a.m. to 4:45 p.m., or contact the nearest office of the Nebraska State Employment Service. Minimum age 18.

LAST RUN—The CB&Q "Bug" pulled into the Burlington Station Friday for the last time on its regular run, ending a long career of service between Lincoln and Columbus. The train, officials believe, had been in operation ever since tracks were extended to Columbus, probably more than 40 years ago. About six passengers made the last trip to Lincoln on the friendly little "Bug." (Journal Photo)

Lincoln-Columbus 'Bug' Ends Slow, Friendly Train Career

"It's not fast but it's steady."

That's how the engineer sized up the CB&Q Columbus Motor as he brought it into Lincoln for the last time.

As the "Bug" ended a long career of twice-a-day service between Columbus and Lincoln, it was manned by a comparatively new crew.

L. H. Ackman, the engineer, was making his fourth trip with the engine when it returned to Columbus Friday afternoon. Conductor George Macny had been with the little train about two weeks.

* * *

THE "BUG" ran through Malcolm, Seward, David City, Ulysses and Bellwood to Columbus. It carried passengers, baggage and freight.

When the Post Office Department discontinued its mail contract on the Columbus motor more than two months ago, the Burlington alleged that passenger and baggage service alone did not justify operation of the train.

* * *

THE "BUG" had carried an average of only three or four passengers on each trip for the past few years.

It's a "friendly little train," though—passengers, crew and station men will miss it.

The "Bug" will be pulled back to Lincoln Friday night or Saturday by a local freight.

Stopher Funeral Will Be Monday

The funeral of Albert E. Stopher, 61, of 2717 So. 13th, will be at 10:30 a.m. Monday at Roberts with Dr. C. Vin White officiating.

Burial will be in Lincoln Memorial Park.

Surviving are three daughters, Mrs. Reinhold Rebensdorf and Mrs. Marvin Robinson, both of Lincoln, and Mrs. Herman Issacson of Seattle, Wash.; a son, Donald E. of Seattle, Wash., a son, Donald E. of Seattle, Wash.; mother, Mrs. Phoebe Stopher of Lincoln, a sister, Mrs. Dora Gillam of Lincoln; and five grandchildren.

He Missed the Horse

DELAVAN, Wis. (UP)—Richard Banker, 21, of Rockford, Ill., swerved his car to miss a horse on the highway here. His 1953 model car went off the road, caught fire and burned up. The horse turned around and slowly walked away.

Rail Terminal Value Being Considered

The State Board of Equalization met Friday to begin consideration of the amount of railroad terminal valuations to be assigned the various towns of Nebraska.

Also to be divided out is a railroad rolling stock figure. The various railroads divide up the amount of box cars and other rolling stock on their entire system and tell each state what proportion it has. The Nebraska State Board then divides this down to the cities.

Announcements of the valuations of railroad lines, and franchises of electric and other utilities was made. These valuations are divided county by county and the certification sent to the counties involved.

* * *

THE BOARD this week decided to stick with its previous decisions on these valuations.

A new formula for railroads has been adopted. It includes the "historic cost" factor, or the value of actual railroad property. Previously only the earning capacity of the railroads and the current market value of their stocks and bonds had been considered.

* * *

THIS YEAR'S taxable valuation for all railroads is $157,258,280. Last year it was $158,307,260.

For franchises certain new formulas were used for particular types of utilities. The total taxable valuation this year is $3,944,600. In 1952 it was $3,956,200.

* * *

HERE ARE the certifications of the taxable valuation (50 per cent of "actual value") to the southeastern counties of Nebraska:

Burglars Break Into Castle, Take German Crown Jewels

HECHINGEN, Germany (AP)—The Hohenzollern crown jewels, valued at over $100,000, were stolen Thursday night from the family castle here, police reported

The missing jewels include a golden table set, of spoon, fork, fruit dish and cup presented by Queen Victoria to Kaiser Wilhelm at his christening

The jewels were kept in a museum at Burg Hohenzollern, one of the castles belonging to the former rulers of Germany Police said they believe that the break-in was made by a man remaining inside the museum after closing time and then letting accomplices in

The thieves got away with 18 objects, which as treasures of sentimental and historic association, are considered priceless They includeed a Prussian field-marshal's baton encrusted with rubies and diamonds a solid gold plate six diamond-studded snuff boxes of the time of Frederick the Great a diamond star of the order of the black eagle medallions with pictures of Queen Victoria, Kaiser Wilhelm and the German Empress Augusta and a Bulgarian grand cross

Soviet Army 'Behind Throne'

LONDON (AP)—Reports that a trio of Russian war-hero marshals under the famed Georgi Zhukov has taken over real power in the Soviet Union were studied here

The Evening News said Prime Minister Churchill had been informed The foreign office declined comment

Fearful that he could not maintain his grip in the wake of the purge of Interior Minister L P Beria the paper says Premier Georgi Malenkov turned in desperation to the professional soldiers of the Soviet Army who now are the power behind the throne"

* * *

THE ARTICLE in Lord Rothermere's newspaper was signed by its diplomatic correspondent C F Melville who said he understood Sir Winston was so impressed by reports of a take over of power by a military pro-peace group that he is about to redouble his efforts to get an early round-table between the Russian and Western heads of government '

Allied with Zhukov in the military triumvirate the correspondent wrote are Marshal A M Vasilevsky former armed forces minister and Vasily Sokolovsky hero of Berlin and Soviet chief of staff Vasilevsky and Zhukov have held since the death of Josef Stalin the two posts of deputy defence minister under the political general Marshal Nikolai Bulganin

Bulganin this account said, 'is expected to disappear from the scene before long, as he was one of Stalin's hand-picked men

* * *

"MARSHAL ZHUKOV personally was a friend of President (then General of the Army) Eisenhower at the end of the war and Ike has said of him this is a man with whom I could do business'

Working in with the three marshals is the first deputy premier and foreign minister, V M Molotov, who has done much to rally the Communist party

There is speculation that the Malenkov group has been forced to make an alliance with the Army Communists to hold its power after the whole governing structure was dealt a severe blow by the purge of Beria lord of the secret police network which was the party's right arm in wielding its control over the country and the satellites

There has been much evidence of conflict between the army and the secret police—an army in itself

Southeast Takes New Valuations in Stride

★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★

Fillmore Officials Say Geneva Town Lot Values Fall

Officials of southeastern Nebraska counties, after receiving instructions from the State Board of Equalization on assessment adjustments, seemed for the most part to be taking it in stride.

Some of the trouble spots where dissension simmered all year — Otoe, Richardson, and Jefferson Counties might erupt into trouble again. Apparently some officials and citizens still aren't convinced the figures compiled by the state tax commissioner are valid.

And Filmore County, which popped into the limelight when the State Board heard all 93 counties give testimony reportedly was bothered about increases handed it by the State Board.

Its officials had tried to convince the State Board that town lot values had fallen in Geneva since a postwar housing boom died out. And Co. Atty. John Gewacke startled the Board by affirming that in no county are full valuations on household goods turned in by taxpayers. Yet the State Boards 100 per cent increase of this category for Fillmore County reportedly is one of the causes for anger.

Here are county-by-county reports by officials.

Johnson

Assessor William J. Ehmen said he had heard no word of complaint. "Things have pretty well quieted down," he said. He believed the increases on town, business and household property was fair. He thought the drop in mill levies would help considerably.

Pawnee

County Clerk Fred Muscheites said the people "naturally weren't going to like the increase in valuations," especially the 100 per cent raise on household property. He said the county had been in the process of reappraising, and that they would have obtained a better idea of values if they had been left alone. Muscheites said the 34 per cent increase on town property was "expected."

Richardson

Asessor Henry Bruhn said there would probably be "a lot of kicking" in the county over the 100 per cent valuation increase on household and the 95 per cent town property increase.

Saline

Assessor E. H. Houser said he had a chance to contact people about the board's action, but he was sure they would be happy about the 9 per cent decrease in town property valuation and the unchanged farm valuation. Houser said he hoped the drop in mill levies would compensate somewhat for the valuation increase on household and business property.

Seward

"I hope the drop in mill levies will help compensate for the valuation increases," said County Clerk George King. He said he had heard no comment from board members about the increases.

York

Board Chairman Alvin Olson said he was hoping the tax board would accept the county's abstract of values. "We were sure we had our valuation figures set as near to 100 per cent as possible," he said. "But we have accepted the increases as fair," he added. Olson said the county has already dropped its tax levy by a half a mill.

Fillmore

A lawsuit to test authority of the Equalization Board to change tax schedules as submitted by county assessors may be brewing in Geneva. County Assessor Charles Humphrey said, "We're going to co-operate, but at the same time we want an accurate yardstick to determine property valuations." Humphrey said the county board would meet Aug. 4 to decide what action should be taken. He said it might be necessary to re-assess the entire county since it was impossible to raise all town property valuation the required 43 per cent.

Jefferson

"The feeling here is that the Equalization Board went a little too far in decreasing farm valuations 13 per cent and increasing town property 59 per cent. We just don't feel there is that much difference between the two," Assessor J. W. Winslow said.

Otoe

The majority of the people seem to feel the increases are just, according to County Assessor Pat Erwin. But County Attorney Otto Wellensick has described the increases as "outrageous" Erwin said the tax levy has already been dropped on city property, but he did not know what the new levy figure was. He thought the drop would help "considerably" to alleviate the valuation increase.

Sarpy

County Assessor Ernest Nielsen said he believed the 10 per cent valuation increases on business and household property was justified, but he had doubts whether the 14 per cent increase on farms and the 19 per cent increase on town property was warranted.

"I raised the valuations myself to what I thought was actual value," he said, "but naturally we'll have to abide by the board's decision." Nielsen said he knew he would hear many complaints. If we are guaranteed that all government agencies will drop the mill levy, he said, there may be some compensation for the valuations increase.

Case

Assessor Ernest Giles said there would probably be some dissension within the county since town property was down and business and household valuations both up. "But I guess there's nothing we can do about it," he said. Giles thought the drop in mill levies would compensate a little for valuation increases.

Butler

"We most certainly are happy that there was no change in our farm and town valuations," said Assessor Ed A. Rezac. "But Butler has always been one of the better counties as far as valuations go, so we didn't really expect an increase," he said. Rezac added that he didn't believe the 50 per cent household increase or the 30 per cent business increase would hurt anyone.

Nemaha

So far Herbert Muse of Auburn hasn't heard a word of complaint about the county's increase on town, business and household property. "I hope I don't hear anything," he said. Muse was confident the drop in mill levies would compensate for the increase in valuations.

Saunders

County Attorney Tom Settles said he expected no disagreement over the increase on business and household valuations. The county's farm and town valuations remained the same.

Custer Road Delegation Discouraged

"It would take a million dollars to hard-top your road; from what section of the state should we take away the improvements we've already planned?"

So said Gov. Robert Crosby to a road delegation from Custer County.

The nine-man group, led by Mal Ayers of Broken Bow and Lloyd Chandler of Ansley, sought to persuade the governor and the State Highway Department that State Highway 92 should get a bituminous surfacing on the 23 mile stretch between Loup City and Ansley.

Ayers contended that Highway 92 is part of an interstate route connecting the east through Illinois and Iowa with the Black Hills and Yellowstone Park.

* * *

HE SAID that improving the 23-mile stretch would mean a hard-top surface all the way across Nebraska and would pull lots of tourists.

But Crosby and State Engineer L. N. Ress said that they had already planned 'a program of highway improvements for the next two years based on the sufficiency system method of priorities.

They said the $33 million in revenues expected for the Highway Department in the next two years is committed to certain roads.

"Your arguments are most impressive. But Mr. Ress estimates it would cost a million dollars to do the job you ask. Can you tell us which road improvement we're planning in the next two years should be cancelled so we could do yours?" asked Crosby.

* * *

BOB AYERS and Chandler had no direct answer except to suggest that perhaps more weight should be given to roads which connect with interstate routes.

But Crosby pointed out that same argument could be used by State 3, U S. 183, and U S. 281, all of wheih connect with interstate routes but contain gravel stretches in Nebraska.

Y-Teens Plan Slate Special Service

Special to The Journal

FULLERTON — A special world service will be held Friday evening by Y-Teens at the state-wide summer conference at Camp Merrill

Kyoko Kobota of the National YWCA will be featured speaker. Girls wearing costumes of almost every nation will participate and a collection will be taken up to be sent to a Y-Teen club overseas.

Plans were made for statewide observance of the 100th anniversary of the YWCA. A quota of $5,000 was set for the Nebraska District. It will be presented to the National YWCA in April, 1955, as a centennial gift.

Election of officers for the 1954 summer conference will be held Saturday evening. Delegates to the conference were to be chosen Friday.

O'Neill Air Crash Dead Are Identified

SIOUX CITY, Ia. (AP)—The Air Force base here identified the six persons killed in the crash of an Air Force Helicopter near O'Neill, Neb., Thursday. They were:

Capt. Charles A. Johnson, pilot, survived by his wife, Mrs. Grace M. Johnson, Lexington, Mass.

Lt. Francis L. Gasque, co-pilot, survived by his father, Archie M Gasque, Conway, S C.

Sgt. Robert Ide, crew chief, survived by his father, William A. Ide, Scranton, Pa.

Airman 2C Donald Eddy, passenger, survived by his mother, Della V. Eddy, Clarington, O.

Airman 2C Francis Maper, passenger, survived by his mother, Viola Maper, Minocqua, Wis.

Dr. Gunther Loeser, passanger, survived by his wife, Ilse, Watertown, Mass.

The plane apparently crashed as a large rotor blade fell off and hit the smaller rear propeller. It was being used in wind testing experimentation. The testing will continue, it was reported.

'Good Deed' Sends Japanese to NWU

By BEN SYLVESTER
Journal Staff Writer

A Japanese Boy Scout who did a good turn for a stranger, just as a London Scout once did for American Boy Scout Founder W. D. Boyce, has received an unexpected award.

Toshiro Isa, 19, of Tokyo, sailed July 22 from Yokahama for the United States to begin studies at Nebraska Wesleyan University on a Wesleyan scholarship.

The scholarship, worth $150 a year for four years, was awarded as the result of efforts in Isa's behalf by former Lincolnite Edwin L. Radin of 4510 Baldwin, now a Strategic Air Command engineer in Japan.

• • •

THE GOOD DEED is reported in the July 22 edition of Tokyo's Shimbun newspaper:

"One fine day in March, 1952, when Toshiro was on his way home from high school he noticed an American gentleman at a loss in finding his way.

"Without hesitation, Toshiro offered help . . . Toshiro's kindness was deeply impressed into the heart of Mr. Radin."

Last September when Mrs. Radin and her two sons joined her husband, Toshiro was invited to their home. Mrs. Radin, who was a Cub Scout den mother in Lincoln, had taken with her a scholarship application from Wesleyan.

• • •

WESLEYAN Registrar Helen Luschei said the scholarship was granted from Cooper Foundation funds as one of a limited number of grants available for foreign students.

"The boy comes very highly recommended," Mrs. Luschei noted. She lists his activities as dramatics, glee club, band, DeMolay in addition to Boy Scouts.

Isa will live at the home of Mrs. Frank Weatherhogg, 2905 No. 51st, after he arrives on Aug. 7.

• • •

ISA'S GOOD DEED recalls the circumstances of the introduction of Scouting to America.

Local Scout Executive Ervin Brezina explains that W. D. Boyce of Chicago brought the movement here after an incident in London.

Lost in a London fog, Boyce asked directions of a youth and was escorted personally to his destination. The scout declined the proffered payment, saying it was his "good deed for the day."

Truck Rate Hike Hearing Sept. 2

The request of the motor carriers for a rate increase has been set for hearing on Sept. 2 before the State Railway Commission.

The request was filed on July 25 by the Nebraska Motor Carriers' Association.

The association asks that the present first class rate on 100 pounds for 100 miles become the minimum, regardless of class, for anything up to 100 pounds.

An additional 10 cents per 100 pounds is asked on shipments weighing between 100 and 1,500 pounds.

The Sept. 2 hearing will be held at the Statehouse.

Young Democrats Plan Convention for Aug. 4-5

The Lancaster County Young Democrats continued planning for the state convention, tentatively scheduled for Sept. 4 and 5, at a meeting at the YMCA.

No successor was named to replace Dorothy Cooper, who resigned as vice chairman of the group. County delegates to the convention are being chosen.

Oakdale Man Killed by Freight

EMMET (AP)—Vernon Cunningham, 58, of Oakdale was fatally injured Thursday when struck by a Northwestern freight train about four miles west of here.

Cunningham, relief section foreman for the railroad at O'Neill, died in an O'Neill hospital.

Supt. A. L. Eckles of the railroad at Norfolk, said there were five members in the section crew and that the crew apparently didn't see the freight until it was very close to them.

The crew abandoned their motor car on the tracks. Cunningham apparently went back to the motor car to get his lunch.

Hastings Lawyer Named To Oil Commission

Appointment of James D. Conway, Hastings attorney, as assistant representative for Nebraska on the Interstate Oil Compact Commission has been announced by Governor Crosby.

The Commission was created by the 1953 Legislature which authorized the governor to execute agreements for the extension of the expiration date of the interstate compact to conserve oil and natural gas.

Railway Asks Court Backing

The Chicago and Northwestern Railway has asked the State Supreme Court to uphold the Railway Commission order allowing trains 21 and 22 between Omaha and Norfolk to be discontinued.

Thirteen towns along the route appealed to the court after the Railway Commission granted authority to the railroad to drop the trains.

The railroad contends in its brief that if the trains are not patronized by residents of the locality through which they travel, it would be "a form of economic waste" to require their continued operation.

Towns joining on protesting elimination of the trains were Norfolk, Wisner, Stanton, Pilger, Beemer, West Point, Scribner, Hooper, Fremont, Arlington, Bennington, and Irvington.

Indian Bones Found Near Ord

Special to The Journal

ORD—An old Indian burial ground was uncovered this week about 16 miles southeast of here by W. B. Harmon, a farmer living in the Davis Creek community.

While cultivating corn, Harmon discovered the bones of several Indians and notified Sheriff V. J. Beran. The sheriff said none of the graves were intact and that no complete skeletons were uncovered.

A number of arrowheads, stone hammers and human bones have been found in the area from time to time the last several years, indicating that Indians had buried their dead in shallow graves on the hillsides.

Crosby to Greet Nebraska GI

Sgt. Lawrence M. Hanson of Thompson, returning from the Korean War, will be welcomed at Seattle by Gov. Robert Crosby next Wednesday.

It will be part of a ceremony in which 48 Korean War veterans, one from each state of the union, will step ashore to shake hands with the governors or officials of their home states.

Crosby will be in Seattle for the Conference of State Governors next week. He leaves Lincoln early Saturday morning by airplane.

Editorial Comment and Opinion

A Stout Heart Is Stopped

When the definitive story of Robert A. Taft is written, it may show that this great American who swallowed a bitter disappointment and went on fighting as though he had been at the helm, truly gave his life in that final service. He was the most vigorous man on the political scene a year ago, when at 62 he was campaigning for the nomination for president, and his strength and endurance were apparently inexhaustible. He worked from 7 a.m. until midnight daily for months, with scarcely a breathing spell, ran his younger companions breathless, and finished each gruelling day in better shape than many of them.

Denied the office he had thrice hoped for, Mr. Taft wasted not a minute in repining, but flung himself into his country's service as unstintingly as he had striven to reach his personal goal. How much this all contributed to his untimely death can only be guessed. Happily he was out of the picture only briefly before laying down his tremendous load.

The country, the Republican party, the administration, have lost a man whose value can hardly be over-estimated. Mr. Taft was more than the nominal floor leader of Senate Republicans, more than "Mr. Republican," more than a stout-hearted champion of old fashioned personal liberty, more than a blunt man who thought fast and spoke his thoughts on the instant.

He was a balance wheel and a unifying force who kept party factions from irremediable divisiveness. He was a master craftsman in the Senate, one who knew its every mood, calculated its temper from hour to hour, protected its pride, invoked its compromising spirit tactfully—though on occasion quick to trample roughshod over dissenters.

No defeated candidate for the country's highest office has ever made himself so useful to the man who beat him as did Mr. Taft to the President. From the instant Mr. Eisenhower was chosen in his place, his rival devoted all his great talent, energy, experience and judgment to securing his election, then to supporting him in the tasks imposed by his position. Only a great man could have done this so immediately, so matter-of-factly, so vigorously.

History had already begun to judge Mr. Taft more kindly than did many of his contemporaries. He argued against repeal of the Neutrality Act in 1941 right up until Pearl Harbor, when he flung himself into the fight. He foresaw the danger of letting Russia into the company of the Allies. And despite the clamorings of labor bosses, the Taft-Hartley act has come to be seen as the work of one concerned with the rights of the individual union man, as with the public good. In 1946 it was Mr. Taft who foiled President Truman's plan to draft striking railway men into the army, after the White House had rammed the measure through the House.

That a man so able in every way should have lost his three great political battles can hardly be seen at this close distance as anything but the workings of blind fate. Twice his party astonished itself and others by reaching outside its organization for a presidential candidate in preference to Mr. Republican. In 1940 it chose Wendell Willkie, a recent Democrat, Wall Street lawyer and entrepreneur. Four years later Mr. Taft stepped aside for his fellow Ohioan, Sen. John W. Bricker, who was unable to wrest the nomination away from Governor Dewey. In 1948 Dewey was again nominated, and again failed to be elected.

Mr. Taft's year was to have been 1952. But out of the armed services stepped Dwight D. Eisenhower, great soldier and great man, then registered as an independent. That was the last chance, and he lost.

It was more than partisanship, far more than personal ambition, that made this great fighter an immovable and devoted Republican. He was no stranger to Washington, having lived in the White House as a young man during the incumbency of his father, William Howard Taft. What impressed him then, and the rest of his life, was what he saw as the increasing growth of socialism in the Democratic party. He could co-operate with his Republican opponents, never with the Democrats.

Not once did Mr. Taft recede a step from his unequivocal opposition to the New Deal and the Fair Deal. He felt that the nation must choose between liberty and socialism, and on entering the Senate in 1938 he became the chief opposition of the party of Roosevelt and Truman. Its majorities in both houses never daunted him. He took a stand on every issue, stated his beliefs, and defended them on every occasion. When he had a piece to speak, he spoke.

That voice is stilled now. Its echoes will long be heard. It is quite possible, indeed, that his fame will increase with the perspective of years.

A MOMENT'S THOUGHT

Psalm 19: 7

The law of the Lord is perfect, converting the soul: the testimony of the Lord is sure, making wise the simple.

—Selected by Rev. F. V. Holloway,
Free Methodist Church

Food Stamps for Surpluses

Attacking food surpluses, those accumulated through the government's price support program, by allocating various items to people on public assistance through the medium of stamps is suggested by a Californian who is circularizing the press. He thinks this at least as sensible as distributing the food to needy foreigners, as has been proposed. He is of course correct on this point, except that he doesn't note that public and private relief agencies already constitute a channel for disposal of some foodstuffs, although he is chairman of his state's Social Welfare Institute. The school lunch program also is still on the books.

Neither of these outlets, even if pushed to the hilt, could possibly handle the mountain of surplus butter now being piled up. But a food stamp plan could operate to prevent some of its growth, suggests the Des Moines Register. Stamps issued to relief clients would absorb quantities of butter through private wholesale and retail channels, which of itself would save money. Beneficiaries would eat more butter than they do now. (They might indeed eat better than some of their neighbors not receiving assistance, since substitutes are widely used as an economy measure—except in cooking and sometimes, alas, there too.) Certainly they would reduce sharply the overweening size of the surplus, and cut down the waste from spoilage. Suppose relief clients had been receiving butter stamps all this year (the plan calls for no corresponding lessening of other allocations.) The savings would have been enormous.

All this of course is based on continuance of price support at levels far above what the free market will pay. It exists today because such a program can't be chopped off between one day and the next. The administration wants to get rid of it. In the meantime assaulting food surpluses from various angles might ease the taxpayer's situation.

It's Traditional

Raymond Moley

Study of Charitable Trusts Approved

The House Rules Committee has approved and given the green light to a resolution introduced by Congressman Carroll Reece which provides for a study of tax-exempt foundations and similar institutions. This will, when passed by the House, reconstitute and continue the work of a committee headed in the previous Congress by the late Eugene Cox of Georgia. Due to limitations of time and the failing health of the Chairman, the Cox Committee was able barely to scratch the surface of a field that needs deep and vigorous ploughing.

Moley

The Cox committee was able, however, to settle a number of points which clearly establishes the legitimacy of a congressional study of the nature and activities of foundations. For they are, in a very special way, responsible to the public and its government.

It was admitted over and over by officials of foundations in the inquiries of the Cox investigation that since their income is exempt from taxation it is, in a large part, money vested with a public interest. For without tax exemption it would share with all other private income in the support of government. The Congress as well as the Treasury has a right to see if it is being spent for purposes which are not only free of a subversive taint but useful and wholesome.

* * *

Idea of Community Trust

This principle of public responsibility was well established 40 years ago when the first of the community foundations was established in Cleveland. The trust instrument creating that foundation specified that three of the five members of the governing board should be appointed by public officials. W. H. Goff, the truly great and far-sighted man who conceived the idea of a community trust and who was himself once a member of a Rockefeller Foundation, stated that he could not agree with the elder Rockefeller's idea of a self-perpetuating board.

Indeed Rockefeller, 40 years ago when he was establishing the foundation that bears his name, vainly sought to have Congress incorporate it. Strangely enough there were enough voices raised in Congress against such a recognition that the offer was rejected. Radicals of that day regarded the idea as an effort to incorporate conservatism. At that time either President Taft or his attorney-general — I am not sure which — made a slighting remark about the motion of "incorporating Mr. Rockefeller." Times certainly have changed.

* * *

Foundation Increased

High taxes and the conviction among people of substance that that great personal inheritances are not a particularly good thing for children have enormously increased the number of tax-exempt foundations. One expert witness before the Cox committee last year put the number between 30 and 35 thousand. He estimated the aggregate assets of these at $7 bililon which means an annual income available for spending at a bililon or two. However, the wide variety of such foundations almost precludes any specific estimates.

Students of history may be interested to know that foundations are not new. They seem to have started in ancient Egypt and Chaldea. In 65 B. C. Cicero initiated the first known public investigation of foundations and, due to his efforts, many were dissolved because of some relationship to the conspiracy of Catiline. So Congressman Reece will not be entirely a pioneer. Nor will he be unable to cite precedent.

Great good can come from a penetrating and constructive study of foundations by the Reece committee when and if established. It need not concentrate upon the extent to which some foundations have supported subversive activities although there have been definite instances of that sort. Foundations properly managed can do many things that are vitally important such as the magnificent contributions of the Rockefeller Foundation to health and medicine. They are, on the other hand, often plagued by lazy and merely ornamental boards of control and bureaucratic staffs. The risk of wasteful and undesirable activities increases as they penetrate into the so-called "social sciences." There is need for some wholesome correctives in their work in that field either by their own efforts or by the strong push of a congressional committee.

Washington Post

MORE OR LESS PERSONAL

— A Chat with the EDITOR —

(Mr. McConnell is on vacation. The following article reprinted from the Christian Science Monitor is by Roscoe Drummond, Chief of the Monitor's Washington News Bureau.)

The United Nations has been tested — and found not wanting.

It was not supposed to get into the middle of peace-and-war disputes among the big powers. It did.

It was not supposed to survive if it got in the middle of such disputes. It is surviving, and againing strength thereby.

U. N. Has Been Tested

Every principal function of the UN in the Charter, drafted in the aroma of fictitious Soviet cooperation in San Francisco, rested on the theory of big-power unity. When that unity was exposed in all its emptiness, the U. N. was supposed to become nothing more than a dipolmatic world town meeting of the air—with more air than meeting, a voice without a body. It didn't.

It was not supposed to be able to take collective action by force of arms against any big-power aggressor.

And then came the North Korean-Chinese Soviet-aided aggression upon South Korea. Moscow was confident the U. N. would be so timid, so scared, so self-impotent that Russia could safely continue its boycott of the Security Council and rely on it to do nothing. It figured that the U. N would not act, and that, if it did, it would be so wound up in talk that it would asphyxiate itself.

* * *

It acted: Moscow was left gaping and gasping. And thus at the signing of the truce this week President Eisenhower was able, in his broadcast to America and to the world, to pronounce what may prove to be one of the precious verdicts of history:

"Soldiers, sailors, and airmen of 16 different countries have stood as partners beside us through these long and bitter months. America's thanks go to each. In this struggle we have seen the United Nations meet the challenge of aggression — not with pathetic words of protest, but with deeds of decisive purpose."

* * *

Let us not pretend that this defense of Korea was in itself a great and powerful initiative by the United Nations. It wasn't. It was a groping, tentative, partial, hopeful action by the United Nations. All the free nations did not feel they could join in. Besides Korea itself and the United States their contributions of manpower and material were not relatively substantial — though their fighting was valorous.

But the youthful, post-World War II U. N. did not close its eyes, did not go to sleep.

* * *

This is what makes it true for Secretary of States Dulles to say: "For the first time in history an international organization has stood again an aggressor and has marshaled force to meet force."

Met Force With Force

This is what makes it true for former U. N. Secretary-General Trygve Lie to say: "The Korean war has been the first determined stand against international lawlessness and aggression which the peace-loving governments of the world have taken. It has been a successful stand. Collective security has been enforced for the first time in the whole of human history."

* * *

Here are some of the things which the U. N., with ROK and American forces carrying a great part of the burden, accomplished:

The aggression, successful in the first weeks and sweeping ever southward over the South Korean forces, was ultimately stalled and repulsed by the U. N.

The U. N. set out to free South Korea wholly from the aggressor, and has done so. This is the essential basis for accepting the truce.

Aggression not only has been rendered unsuccessful, but the aggressor has lost territory and paid heavily. Economically useful and militarily valuable areas have been added to South Korea north of the 38th parallel. The Chinese and North Korean forces have sustained something near to 2,000,000 casualties, and the North Korean Army is virtually nonexistent. Aggression has not paid.

"The tragic results," says Mr. Dulles, "will surely be pondered by other potential nominees for aggression-by-satellite."

A senator recently asked Henry Cabot Lodge, Jr., United States Ambassador to the United Nations, if some way could not be found to get Russia out of the U. N., and Mr Lodge made this perceptive reply:

"It is better to have the arsonist in the fire department rather than running around the country — you can turn the hose on him once in a while."

* * *

The UN deserves to be properly valued in order that it may continue to grow in strength and purpose. ROSCOE DRUMMOND

Headed East

LINCOLN—There is a marker with a bronze plate mounted on it, a covered wagon drawn by oxen, at the entrance of the City Hall. I think the ones that promoted it did not know their oxen or did not understand how to hitch them up to go westward. They are headed east. I think this should be changed before the centennial. It might look better to the pioneers that blazed the trail where the marker is now set. I am one of the children who came west in a covered wagon.

Sales Tax

LINCOLN — Editor Sweet of the Nebraska City News Press isn't the only one who is burned up about the personal property tax, nor is he the first one to inveigh against it.

I myself have often protested against and will continue to do so. But Editor Sweet is dead wrong when he says that the people of Nebraska are conditioned to a sales and income tax. What is a sales tax but a restriction on trade and how can we have free enterprise while hamstringing it in the market place, while at the same time we take wages in taxes (sometimes as the withholding tax even before the producer gets it).

Doctor in the House?

LINCOLN — After attending the wrestling matches at the Fairgrounds I have a suggestion to offer. I believe they should have a physician present at the matches. We've been out there twice in the last six weeks and both times they called, "Is there a doctor in the house?" One time it was the wrestler who was hurt and the second time it was a spectator. There is a doctor present at all boxing macthes and there should be at all wrestling matches. It has a rousing effect on the audience when a wrestler is injured and then continues with the match.

Trees Destroyed

LINCOLN—As a taxpayer in the city of Lincoln, I feel compelled to protest against the ruthless destruction of our beautiful trees on South Street by a house moving company.

This week a house was moved from between 27th and 28th on South Street east. With utter disregard for the beauty of our street, this house moving firm, instead of putting forth a little effort to raise the limbs of the trees or pull them aside, wantonly sawed them off. I called the park superintendent to ascertain if he knew what destruction was being wrought, and was informed by his secretary that they had had several complaints and she would again bring it to his attention. I was also informed by the building inspector, who issues permits for house moving, that it was the duty of the park superintendent to supervise the necessary trimming of trees for such an operation. The park superintendent finally arrived after 90 per cent of the damage was done. Why this inefficiency? Does the small fee paid to our city by a house moving firm justify this destruction?

I have lived in our present home since 1927. The trees then were small. During the drought, we were asked by the city to water the trees and given instructions as how best to do it. This we did. We were also asked to band the trees on the parkway for canker worms. This we also did. Most Lincoln citizens take pride in the appearance of their property. It takes just about 15 minutes for someone to mutilate and destroy what it has taken nature 30 years to produce. I wonder if it is asking too much of our Park Department to co-operate with the citizens in keeping our city beautiful?

Normal But Proud

LINCOLN—We, like the writer of a letter (Public Mind, July 29) like things normal around our household too. However, wouldn't this be quite an unusual world if we as proud parents couldn't boast to someone about our youngsters' phenomenal performances? After all, babies do deserve some credit and who would bestow it upon them besides we proud parents?

DAILY READER

"European Hordes"

LINCOLN—In The Lincoln Journal (July 28) a congressman is reported as saying with regard to tht President's refugee-immigration bill: "The people of America don't want their country turned over to a European horde."

Being a refugee-immigrant myself I just wonder whether this man represents the opinion of the redskin natives of this country about the white immigrants, or the opinion of the latter about their comrades in a common war whose homes had been surrendered to the common enemy.

Has a nation of 160 million healthy and wealthy people anything to fear from the arrival of a fraction of a million refugees, carefully screened, distributed, and watched?

Does not culture and law start with—hospitality, sacred among "hordes"? Will the words of this congressman be used as a sign hanging on the peers or as a motto for the education of good citizens?

Background of the News

Labor Program May Surprise Congress

By EDWIN A. LAHEY
Lincoln Journal-Chicago Daily News Service

WASHINGTON — President Eisenhower's program for changes in the Taft-Hartley act may be the biggest surprise package of his administration.

The President's program, now being pounded into an eleventh hour message to Congress, is reported to be full of major concessions to organized labor.

Lahey

Mr. Eisenhower's proposals for changes in the basic labor law are expected to produce a literal revolution in the political atmosphere.

The President's program will undoubtedly evoke enthusiastic endorsement from organized labor, and hostility from the right wing of the Republican Party and organized employer groups who looked for a "tightening up" of labor law.

Martin P. Durkin, the secretary of labor, who has been described as the ineffectual "outsider" in the Eisenhower cabinet, is almost certainly bound to loom as a very influential citizen in Washington as the full scope of the Eisenhower labor program becomes known, and its political implications seep in on members of Congress.

This program will go to Congress in the closing hours of its present session, and then will be before the country for five months before Congress reconvenes to consider the President's recommendations.

* * *

Would Repeal Sec. 14B

One of the most far-reaching proposals reportedly agreed upon by the President would repeal section 14B of the Taft-Hartley Act.

This section is one of the strongest teeth in the act.

It says, in effect, that where a state labor law is more drastic than the federal law, the state law shall prevail.

The elimination of this provision in effect would repeal the law in at least 13 states which prohibit the union shop.

In the absence of Sec. 14B of the Taft-Hartley Law, the federal law would supersede the state laws forbidding union shop contracts.

Another drastic reform to be proposed by the White House is the elimination of the mandatory injunction provision of the Taft-Hartley Act.

This provision of the law states that when complaints of certain unfair labor practices are lodged with the National Labor Relations Board, the board's counsel must apply for an injunction.

The Eisenhower-Durkin proposal would give the board's counsel discretionary power to seek injunctions in these cases, rather than make such injunctions proceedings mandatory.

* * *

Secondary Boycott

Some important changes in the secondary boycott provisions of the Taft-Hartley act will also be recommended by the President, according to reports.

One of these changes would make it legal for union members to refuse to handle "struck work."

Another proposed liberalization of the secondary boycott provisions would permit picketing on a job where one of several contractors on the job was in dispute with a union.

The right of picketing in this particular phase of labor controversy was restricted by the NLRB in a Denver case, in which the Supreme Court upheld the board.

Such a liberalization of the secondary boycott provisions of Taft-Hartley would be of inestimable value to the AF of L building trade unions.

Another proposal would specify the right to picket in what is known as the "primary situs." This right has been upheld by the board, but is under court attack by employers.

("Primary situs" defines the site of the original strike . . . that is, the factory at which the strike began.)

The Eisenhower-Durkin program would liberalize the check off provisions of the present law, by removing the necessity for renewing a check of authorization by an employee annually.

The White House proposals would also include an amendment which would permit the maritime and building trade unions to enter into pre-hiring agreements with employers which are not legal under the law.

Provisions of the present law for "de-authorizing" a union to represent workers would also be removed

Filing requirements for unions under the Taft-Hartley act would be greatly simplified by the White House program.

The President would also write off the so called "union busting" provisions of the act, which involves the voting rights of strikers after they have returned to their jobs.

Mr. Eisenhower referred to this provision as a "union busting" device in his campaign.

The anti-Communist affidavit provision of the Taft-Hartley act would be entirely eliminated by the White House.

The president originally proposed that this provision be broadened, to require employers, as well as union officers, to certify that they are not Communists.

But discussions over the past several months at the White House convinced everyone that the anti-Communist provision had no practical value, and should be removed.

Separate laws covering Communism would probably be recommended to take care of Red labor leaders.

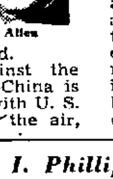
ROBERT S. ALLEN Reports

Truce Will Mean Little Savings

WASHINGTON — Congress is adjourning in a glum mood regarding Far Eastern affairs.

The hard-won Korean armistice will mean little, if any, savings for the U. S.

The urgent need for greatly-increased military aid to the grimly pressed French in Indo-China will amount to virtually as big a financial burden as the cost of fighting in Korea.



Allen

American expenditures in the Indo-China war during this fiscal year will reach an all-time high of $1,200,000,000. This is 20 per cent more than the French propose to spend.

The six-year-old struggle against the Reds in the fetid jungles of Indo-China is now being waged almost entirely with U. S. weapons. On the ground and in the air, French and native forces are fighting with American guns, planes and munitions. The recent spectacular raids against key enemy depots were executed entirely with U. S. equipment. Without this expensive gear, these crippling blows could not have been struck.

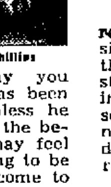
By ship and air carriers large quantities of military supplies are being rushed to the French and Vietnamese in preparation for the resumption of large-scale Communist assaults by early September, when the rainy season ends.

It is definitely known the Red Vietminh, armed and trained by China, are mounting a double-pronged offensive aimed at capturing Hanoi, key stronghold on the northern coast, and overrunning Laos on the northeast border of Thailand. If this drive is successful, the Communist menace will be immeasurably increased throughout all of strategic Southeast Asia.

THE ONCE OVER By H. I. Phillips

What'll You Have, Chief?

The House has approved a bill killing the ancient law forbidding anybody to sell liquor to Indians. . . . The last cocktail party we attended would have frightened the toughest of the Comanches, sent the bravest Sioux out on the run and made the last of the Mohicans think he was in a photo finish for last place honors.



Phillips

The law forbidding liquor to the Redman was passed away back in the early days, because it was thought the firewater of those times went to their heads and made them irresponsible. . . . That was before civilized people got to be pretty irresponsible, too, anyway you looked at 'em. . . . The Indian has been without liquor for generations, unless he got it furtively, and, as he watches the behaviour of civilized drinkers, he may feel that the change in the law is nothing to be taken advantage of. . . . It could come to pass that nothing the white man has done to him can mean more trouble than free use of the cocktail shaker. . . . If we were an Indian (and there are times when we think we are) and were invited to a modern cocktail party, we would insist that we be allowed to bring our cowpony, use a bow and arrow in case of any marked disturbance and have a couple of squaws outside with Indian medicines and restoratives just in case.

* * *

Congress is changing the law under which movie stars, among the best paid people in the country, can escape income taxes by making a picture abroad. . . . They had a perfect right to take full advantage of the law, and can't be blamed for paying only what is demanded, but it seemed pretty funny to see a movie actor performing as the great American, the flawless male and the superdooper hero in a movie made in Europe so he could dodge a tax which everybody in the audience had to pay because they couldn't afford trips abroad. . . . And it hasn't been easy to take some of our wealthiest movie actresses, portraying the noblest and most sacrificing types of American women while getting out of a fair share of the tax bill. . . .

Arthur Godfrey returned to TV this week, revealing a deeply sentimental and tender side, supplemented by marked indications that the deepest wells of his faith had been stirred by his long ordeal. . . . He looked in the pink facially, but appeared only in something like pajamas and in his bare feet, never moving out of his chair, a clear indication that he is by no means completely restored to health.

His gratitude for coming through the operation was apparent in every mood and word and the audience was touched by two things . . . his plea, "Pray that this may really be the end of the war in Korea. Prayer gets results. Believe me, I know it," and the prize winning quartette number, "I Believe." . . . Never before did we see so clearly what makes Arthur click.

Injuries Plague Jaycee Team

It never rains but it pours. That's how the Jaycee softball team feels as the injury jinx again steamrolled the squad.

Tuesday an outfielder was the victim of a broken arm after colliding with a teammate. That was bad enough, but things didn't perk up Thursday night.

The team's second baseman, Jerry Ahern, collided with Jerry Dosek, the rightfielder, while both chased a short fly. Ahern held onto the ball despite a cut on his head.

Both players were treated at a Lincoln hospital. Ahern's injury required several stitches while Dosek, suffering a deep cut on his chin, had nine stitches applied to his injury.

Nebraska Deaths in Traffic Down

CHICAGO (AP)—In a National Safety Council report on U.S. traffic fatalities during the first six months of 1953, Nebraska led the 17 states which had fewer deaths than during the first six months of 1952.

The Cornhusker state had 23 per cent fewer deaths than in the first six months of 1952. Three states reported no change; 27 had increases.

For June, 20 states reported decreases in deaths; five showed no change; 22 had increases.

All in all, traffic deaths in the first half of 1953 were up 3 per cent over the same period last year. The council said fatalities in the first six months of 1953 totaled 17,300—470 more than during the corresponding period of 1952.

There was a bright side to the traffic picture. Deaths per 100 million miles of travel from January through June were 6 6—a new all-time low for the period. In the corresponding 1952 period, the mileage death rate was 6.7.

New York City Mailmen Walking Routes Faster

NEW YORK (AP)—The mail is arriving a half hour earlier these days in the city's residential districts.

The reason, acting postmaster Harold R. Riegelman told a meeting of postal employees, was because postmen are walking faster.

Some Counties Hit Equalization Action

Reaction to the State Board of Equalization's action was generally quiet among the counties, although a few "hit the roof."

Douglas County officials termed the 48 per cent boost for town lot valuations there a "cruel, low blow" to Omaha taxpayers.

But a member of the State Board of Equalization, who asked not to be named, said that this complaint might be the best backing the State Board could have.

He explained that the eyes of the whole state had been on what would happen to Douglas County when the State Board acted.

* * *

"BECAUSE we're getting such a reaction to what we're doing to Omaha, I expect most of the rest of the counties will be satisfied that we did equalize everybody—including Omaha. If we had let Douglas County off easy, there wouldn't be this hollering from Omaha," he said.

A strong protest also came from Holt County whose valuations were raised 438 per cent for town lots and 207 per cent for farm lands.

But another member of the State Board of Equalization, Gov. Robert Crosby, explained that Holt County was the only one of the 93 counties which used the 50 per cent law to cut last year's valuation in half. All the others at least doubled the 1952 valuations before applying the 50 per cent cut.

* * *

THEREFORE Holt County had to get quite an increase to bring it back to last year's level before the boost it would have gotten anyway, Crosby explained.

Crosby said that tax commissioner's figures showed that the average value per acre of farmland in Holt County last year was $9. The county cut that in half to $4.50 this year. A 207 per cent increase would bring the average assessed value per acre only up to $14.15 this year, he said.

"When you consider there is a lot of tillable land and good hayland in Holt County, I don't see where the County Board can complain that an actual value of $28.30 an acre is excessive," Crosby said.

* * *

A TELEGRAM came to the State Board from Box Butte County officials Leslie Stull and Fred J. Stower who declared, "Your decision with reference to Box Butte County results in town and country property being far above actual value."

But Crosby said the adjusted figure will mean only an average price per acre of $39.40, of which $19.70 an acre will be taxed.

"Box Butte County has a great deal of wheat land and pump irrigated land to bring the average up and make up for its poor land. I don't think an average of $39.40 is excessive," said Crosby.

To emphasize how "conservative" the board's figures are, Crosby cited Cherry County farm land which has an average taxable value of $7 37 per acre, or an average actual value of $14.74, and sale of the Sam McKelvie ranch near Valentine which brought $40 an acre.

Lincolnites Find Relief From Heat in West, North

Vacationing on a ranch in Cow Creek Valley, near the village of Estes Park, Colo., were (from left) Mrs. Ken Kimmell, Miss Ernestine Irvan and Mrs. Virgil Kastens. Particularly appealing to the trio was the temperature—a mild 75 during the day and about 45 at night.

Hazelhurst, Wis., was the vacation spot chosen by Mr. and Mrs. Bill Glassford. They visited their son, Gary, at camp in Rhinelander, and then he returned with his parents to their lodge for a few days. Serving Gary his charcoal broiled steak is the lodge's host, Gil Keith.

Thermometer's Rise Doesn't Cramp the News

Lt. and Mrs. William L. Holmquist have arrived in Lincoln for a visit with Mrs. Holmquist's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Colton Smith. They will also visit the lieutenant's parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Holmquist, in Oakland.

Lt. Holmquist reports for duty in Japan Sept. 1, and Mrs. Holmquist plans to follow at at later date.

Mrs. Robert B. Byllesby and daughters, Sue, who will enter the university at Ames, Ia., and Joan, arrived to visit Mr. and Mrs. Fred Stiner and Mrs. E. U. Byllesby. After spending a few days here, the Iowa Byllesbys will go on to Columbus to visit relatives.

A very small group met for a porch luncheon at the Lincoln Country Club with Mrs. Harold Hoppe as hostess. Guests were invited to wear the coolest dress they had—or even swimming suits.

Miss Mary Jean Neely, who will marry Hugh Williams of Omaha on Aug. 29, will be guest of honor at a small informal coffee Wednesday with Mrs. Samuel Haupt as hostess . . . and on Friday next Mrs. Oliver Hallam has invited guests for a 1 p.m. luncheon at the Lincoln Country Club, honoring the bride-to-be. Miss Neely will be presented with a gift. Guests are members of Mrs. Hallam's play reading group.

'Tis happy news for Mrs. Wayne O. Southwick and her three children, Marcia, Steven and Freddy. Dr. Southwick is on his way home from Korea, where he has been aboard a hospital ship. He is to be in Japan on Aug. 3, and his actual arrival date depends on the mode of travel—but he is expected about the middle of August.

The doctor's stay in Lincoln will be brief and busy—for the family will be packing up to move to his new station, Baltimore.

Back from vacations: Mr. and Mrs. John Groth and their son, Jay, have returned from Cass Lake, Minn. They spent three weeks there at the summer home of Mr. Groth's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Groth . . . And the William Edwards family — including Tommy and Lynn—are just back in town from a trip through Canada, and the northwest states.

Miss Dorothy Lucas of Los Angeles is here for a visit with her relatives—Miss May Hyland, Mr. and Mrs. Leo Hyland and the C. W. Hylands. She will be leaving soon for Estes Park.

Porch Snack

Make delicious canapes for a porch snack by mixing softened cream cheese and chopped canned pimiento; spread on toast rounds. Add elegance with a garnish of pimiento strips or a slice of ripe olive.

Mary Gordon

Girls of Today His Gripe

Dear Mary Gordon: What is the matter with the girls of today? Is marriage the only thing on their young minds? I am 23, have a fairly good job and education, but I can't start a home yet and I'm not ready to do so.

Yet I can't go out with the same girl more than three times but she begins talking marriage.

It seems to be a disease they all suffer from — that and wanting you to spend half a week's salary on one night's entertainment.

How come they got that way? Is there any hope of a cure?—Johnny.

Answer: Girls, we'll let you answer that. Has Johnny a legitimate complaint?—M.G.

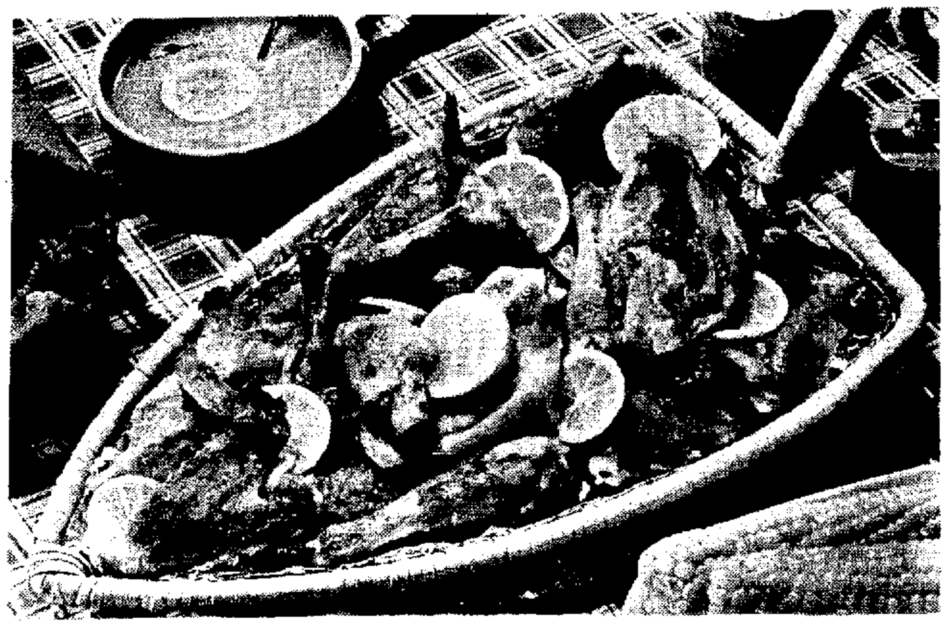
Lemon Barbecued Chicken Delicious



Whether you cook your dinner in the open, or in the kitchen and take it outdoors to eat, Lemon Barbecued Chicken will become the specialty of the house after you once try it! The spicy lemon sauce gives such a wonderful flavor to chicken that anyone can be a super outdoor chef.

Mix up the sauce ahead of time if possible, to let the flavors blend. Then generously brush sauce over the chicken several times while broiling. Line a basket with foil and serve broiled chicken in the basket. Any remaining sauce can be passed separately—too good to waste a drop.

Lemon Barbecue Sauce

- ¾ cup lemon juice
- ¾ cup salad oil
- 1 grated peeled clove garlic
- 1 grated peeled small onion
- ½ teaspoon salt
- ½ teaspoon celery salt
- ½ teaspoon black pepper
- ¼ teaspoon each of dried rosemary, marjoram, and thyme

Mix lemon juice and salad oil with other ingredients; chill several hours. Pour over chicken and let marinate. Place small cut-up fryer or broiler in oven broiler or outdoor grill. Brush with sauce several times and broil about 25 minutes on each side or until done.

Miss Roesler Announces Bridal Plans

Miss Trudy Roesler, who will marry Charles Todd Aug. 9, has announced the list of wedding attendants. Her sister, Miss Edith Roesler, is to be the maid of honor, and a sister-in-law, Mrs. Ted Roesler of Rock Island, Ill., will serve as matron of honor. Miss Gretchen Link of Park Ridge, Ill., will be a junior bridesmaid.

Mr. Todd's best man will be his brother, Richard Todd of Elkhorn, and the groomsman is to be Robert Jensen of Papillion. Harry Johnson and Earl Vesskerna of Mead, will usher.

Miss Roesler is to be honored today at a miscellaneous shower given by Mrs. Art Dressen and Miss Ann Munster at Miss Munster's home near Millard.

Soup Mixes

A can of condensed tomato soup combined with one of mushroom adds up to something wonderful. Condensed celery and cream of chicken soups mix like old friends. Vegetable soup is so good mixed with split pea.

Koehn-Anderson Wedding Told

CUSHING—Miss Bernice Koehn, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Koehn, and Allen Anderson, son of Mrs. Hulda Anderson, were married last Sunday.

The wedding took place at Christ Lutheran Church in St. Paul.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a formal gown of white net and lace over taffeta. Her flowers were red roses and white chrysanthemums.

Miss Evelyn Taylor of Aurora, Ore., was maid of honor. Candlelighters were Miss Lucille Koehn of Sidney and Miss Betty Mitchell of Springfield, Ore.

Miss Cheryl Anderson was flower girl and Master Eugene Anderson was ringbearer.

Vance Wohlers served as best man and ushers were Robert Koehn and Wayne Anderson.

Following a wedding trip to the Black Hills, Mr. and Mrs. Anderson will live on a farm near Cushing.

Sen. Bob Taft, Impatient of Fools, Said What He Thought

By EDWIN A. LAHEY
Lincoln Journal-Chicago Daily News Service

WASHINGTON — When an important man like Sen. Robert A. Taft goes the way of all flesh, the guys around a newspaper office who knew him have to scurry through the clips and the recesses of memory to find words about the deceased.

Lahey

In the case of Sen. Taft, it would be hard to top the words used to describe him by his wife Martha in 1938, when she was stumping Ohio in Taft's first campaign for the Senate.

Bob Taft is not a common man," Martha told a group of coal miners. "Who wants a common man to represent them in the United States Senate, anyway?"

* * *

THE BOB TAFT that Martha was talking about is the Taft that became known to the public, the politician and statesman who always loomed as the intellectual giant of the Senate. He who loved facts for themselves, the way a ball club manager loves statistics on runs batted in.

This Bob Taft was a strange figure, a man whose very lack of color was colorful. He was a man impatient of fools, whether they were colleagues in the Senate of either party, reporters at a press conference, or campaign contributors.

This was the Taft who lacked the mechanism of caution that most politicians have.

He always said what was on his mind, and very frequently it was at the wrong time, the wrong place, or to the wrong people.

* * *

IN ADDITION to the dour, didactic senator from Ohio, forever chopping out the admonition to "give the people the facts," there was another, and little known Bob Taft, strange but very human.

This Bob Taft could get dirty or hungry like other people. He could suffer from the pangs of shyness, loneliness, and self-doubt, like other people, and could yearn for approval with the innocent brazeness of a child.

Taft's shyness in personal relations was monumental, and almost unbelievable for anyone who had ever witnessed his sure-footed domination of the Senate floor.

* * *

ONCE, in November, 1951, in Fargo, N.D., I presented to Taft a 16-year-old girl high school journalist who wanted to interview the great statesman.

Taft and the girl were both struck dumb after the introduction, and Taft finally broke the ice by saying:

"Well, what can I do for you?"

TAFT AT 19—Young Robert with his mother and father, William Howard Taft, his sister, Helen, and younger brother, Charles. Bob was a student at Yale at the time.

The girl, struggling valiantly for self-possession, said:

"Senator, could you tell me some of your humorous experiences?"

In the dead silence that followed, I had to leave the room in sheer embarrassment.

* * *

IN 1947, when Taft was out west flushing delegates for the 1948 convention, we had a weekend layover in Reno, Nev.

Sen. Malone (R-Nev) took Taft on a slumming tour on Saturday night.

The Ohio senator entered a sawdust joint down near the Southern Pacific tracks.

There was an unscalable wall between Taft and his surroundings as he stood there, with mouth agape, studying the scene. He looked like nothing so much as a preacher in a bawdy house, and would not have altered his appearance if he had come into the place daily for a year.

* * *

IN PUBLIC, Taft seemed to be a tough-hided, rough and tumble political fighter. But like any other human being with sensitivity and a good heart he was cut deeply by attacks upon him during his public life, and he yearned for approval.

When the campaign for delegates to the 1952 convention was at its bitterest stage, I was riding with Taft on a plane from Chicago to Cincinnati.

For a brief and intimate moment he revealed the depth of the wounds he had felt in the fight with the Dewey wing of the Republican Party.

"Why do they hate me so?" he said forlornly. "There seems to be such violence to it, yet our political differences are merely matters of degree."

* * *

ABOVE ALL, what riled Taft was the tag of "isolationist" which was hung on him by the Deweyites, and by Dwight D. Eisenhower himself at a private luncheon in Denver in June, 1952.

Taft could discourse at great and vehement length on this matter, and would prove by the book that there was no essential difference between him and his political enemies over the basic issues of foreign policy.

Taft for a while was deeply hurt by the attacks made on him by labor leaders. During his campaign for the Republican nomination in 1948, he sometimes sounded wistful in private discussions over the hostility from the union halls.

This worry seemed to lift from Taft's mind after his tremendous re-election victory in 1950. He carried 84 out of Ohio's 88 counties in his campaign for a third term in the Senate.

* * *

THE GREATEST disappointment in Taft's life was his failure in the 1952 Republican Convention, when he went down to defeat before the superior forces who wanted Gen. Eisenhower as their party's candidate.

Taft had deep personal convictions about Mr. Eisenhower.

He believed the general would make the Republican Party a carbon copy of the New Deal and the Fair Deal, which the Ohioan had been fighting in principle since he went to Washington some 15 years ago.

After Chicago, Taft went to his summer home in Murray Bay, Que., and there he came to the firm conclusion that he could not honestly support Mr. Eisenhower unless the nominee gave him plenty of assurances that he would live and act like a Republican.

Some weeks later, after some frantic overtures by the men around Mr. Eisenhower, Taft and the nominee had their famous breakfast conference in New York, and Taft announced his full support of the general.

The disappointment of Chicago was completely out of Taft's system by election time, although the bitterness of that defeat rankles some of Taft's closest friends to this day.

* * *

TAFT, whose middle name of Alphonso came from one of his New England ancestors, was the first child of Mr. and Mrs. William Howard Taft.

He was born in Cincinnati on Sept. 8, 1889. He attended public schools in Cincinnati, and was taken in 1902 to the Philippines, where his father served as governor general.

Taft also attended Taft School in Watertown, Conn. (named for another relative) and in 1907 entered Yale.

William Howard Taft was elected president in 1908, while Robert Alphonso was a student at Yale. Young Bob graduated in 1910, with Phi Beta Kappa honors, and went on to Harvard Law School, where he graduated in 1913 at the head of his class, as usual.

* * *

IN 1914 he married Martha W. Bowers, daughter of Lloyd W. Bowers of Minnesota, onetime solicitor general of the United States.

Martha Taft was the antithesis of her reserved husband.

She was dynamic and radiant with charm, and before she was stricken with paralysis a few years ago was jocularly referred to as Taft's secret campaign weapon.

The Tafts have four sons and nine grandchildren. One of the boys, William Howard Taft III, is the U. S. ambassador to Eire.

* * *

TAFT, whose bad eyes kept him out of active military service, acted as assistant counsel of the Food Administration in 1917 and 1918, and in 1918 went overseas as counsel of the American Relief Commission in Europe.

He practiced law in Cincinnati from 1920 to 1938, and was active in civic and political affairs during those years. In the early 1920s he was elected three times to the Ohio House of Representatives, and in 1938 was elected to the U. S. Senate for the first time.

Taft's election in 1938 can properly be regarded as the beginning of an era in American politics, when the right wing began its long march back from the debacle of 1932.

Student Records Death by Poison

LETCHWORTH, England (AP)—A diligent young science student drank lethal potassium cyanide in his school laboratory and in a pain-wracked scrawl recorded its effects before he died, police disclosed.

John Evans, 18, noted that he swallowed the poison at exactly 3:18 a.m. The stopwatch which young Evans used in the experiment indicated he died 12 minutes later.

Letchworth Coroner F. G. Shillitoe ruled at an inquest Thursday that Eavns died of poisoning while in a disturbed state of mind.

Reds Reject U.S. Penicillin

HONG KONG (AP)—Pharmaceutical export firms here said more than one million vials of U.S. and British penicillin worth about $100,000 has been rejected as "unfit" by Communist China.

The rejected drugs began arriving in Hong Kong Thursday.

This is the second large drug shipment to be refused by the Reds, and trade sources said many smaller druggists have been wiped out.

Earlier this year about $165,000 worth of European-made streptomycin was rejected on grounds that it didn't meet Red China's specifications.

Officials said China was using Soviet specifications which were higher than European standards.

NATO Air Maneuvers Fatal to 7 Airmen

FONTAINBLEAU, France (AP)—The NATO sham air war ended with seven American, British and Italian airmen killed and seven planes destroyed in accidents. The make-believe air war was fought over much of central Europe during the last eight days, with some 1,800 planes from nine NAO nations taking part.

Well Test Below Expectations

★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★

But More Water May Be Available Soon

Tests completed on one of Lincoln's three new water wells have been slightly disappointing, according to Deputy City Engineer Carl L. Fisher.

Fisher

The tested well is the first to be completed. However, it is not yet connected to the city system.

Indications are that it may produce 700,000 gallons daily. A production of 1 million gallons daily had been anticipated.

Fisher indicated that the new wells might be placed in temporary service, if possible, in about 30 days.

If they produce a total of 2 million gallons daily, Fisher believes this will just about absorb the difference between overall production and city demand

Peak demands have ranged around 32 million gallons daily

* * *

AS A PART of other water projects, bids have been received on 36,300 feet of water pipe and fittings. The U S Pipe & Foundry Co. bid $89,054 65 and $88,630 99 James B Clow bid $90,712 73 and $91,148.15; American Cast Iron Pipe Co, $90,762.74 Contract will be approved Monday.

Part of the pipe is in connection with a 24-inch feeder in A Street, from the plant to 40th. This to improve the supply to Piedmont, the Cotner Blvd. area and the new Eastridge addition.

The city will furnish the materials to the contractor. Bids will be asked on construction The work should be completed in from 75 to 90 days.

* * *

THE NEW feeder to serve the Woodsshire area must be flushed out again and rechlorinated before put in service. Fisher said the water could not be spared for flushing Wednesday or Thursday.

The A Street improvement, part of the water extension program, will cost in excess of $100,000.

Off Sale License Suspended at GI

The State Liquor Commission has suspended the off sale beer license of Florence and Wilbur Springsguth of Grand Island.

The commission held minors were served. The license was suspended for 21 days, beginning Aug. 1.

The commission also denied application of Bohumil Slechta of Firth for an on and off sale beer license when a majority of citizens in the town protested granting of the permit, a commission spokesman said.

Yankees Must Perk Up to Win; Chisox Galloping Hard Behind

Brooklyn Lead Cut By Brave Triumph

NEW YORK (AP)—The Yankees can be caught and it will happen in about a month, if they keep losing ground the way they have since their 18-game winning streak was ended on June 16.

Since that time they have only a 24-21 won and lost record while the Second-place White Sox have a gaudy 30-12 mark for the same stretch and the Yankee lead of 10½ on June 16 has been whittled to 4½.

The Yankees, in fact, have played the poorest ball of any of the teams in the first division, during that stretch. Boston has gone 27-16 while Cleveland is 26-20.

• • •

THUS, IF the White Sox could continue their pace, which was even more spectacular until they hit a recession last week in which they lost six out of seven games, they definitely could overtake the New Yorkers.

Of course, if the Yankees perk up, they can coast home.

Thursday, as Manager Casey Stengel observed his 62nd birthday gloomily, the Indians salvaged a 4-3 victory in the finale of the series as Relief Pitcher Early Wynn became the first man to beat them three times this year.

Wynn did it with three scoreless relief innings, and young Bill Glynn, subbing at first base for the slumping Luke Easter, supplied the winning punch with his first major-league triple in the eighth inning after relief Pitcher Tom Gorman had walked Wally Westlake.

The White Sox put on their biggest hit spree of the year, pounding out 21 in a 17-1 rout of Boston for a sweep of the three-game series. Ferris Fain, Minnie Minoso and Tom Wright homered, Jim Rivera hit three singles and a double and Fain, Minoso and Sherm Lollar made three hits apiece in the melee.

• • •

WASHINGTON topped Detroit, 7-4, on the margin of a bases-loaded triple by Jim Busby in the fifth.

That offset a three-run homer by Walt Dropo in the ninth inning when tiring Chuck Stobbs gave up four of Detroit's six hits.

The Athletics swept a three-game series with the Browns by scoring five runs in the second inning for a 5-3 triumph. Gus Zernial led off the frame by hitting his 23rd homer off loser Mike Blyzka. Marion Fricano held the Browns to eight hits for his fifth victory.

Milwaukee cut Brooklyn's lead to seven games in the National by defeating the Giants, 5-0, on a six-hitter by Lew Burdette, while the Dodgers lost, 3-2 at Chicago on the margin of Ralph Kiner's three-run first inning homer.

Philadelphia crushed Cincinnati, 17-8, as Del Innis drove in six runs with a pair of homers and a pair of singles and the Cardinals topped Pittsburgh, 10-4.

• • •

BURDETTE, who has been converted into a starter, gave Milwaukee its third shutout in the four game series with the Giants. The Braves knocked out starter Sal Maglie in the first inning with three runs, two on a single by Joe Adcock.

Marty Furgol Shows Money Boys How in All-America

CHICAGO (AP)—Golf's biggest money winners chased a player who has won only two tournaments in six years Friday as Marty Furgol of Lemont, Ill., led the field into the second round of Tam O'Shanter's $25,000 "All-American" Open.

Furgol, 34-year-old pro for 11 years, slashed six strokes off par with a 66 to gain a one-stroke edge on Doug Ford of Harrison, N. Y., and Ted Kroll of New Hartford, N. Y.

Behind these three were Bob Hamilton of Evansville, Ind., and Jimmy Demaret of Kiamesha Lake, N. Y., with 68 each.

TRAILING EVEN further behind were such "names" as Lloyd Mangrum and PGA Champ Walter Burkemo with 69s, Jim Ferrier and Lawson Little with 70s, Lew Worsham, Dave Douglas and Henry Ransom with 71s, Cary Middlecoff, Sam Snead and Chandler Harper with par 72s, and Tommy Bolt, Jim Turnesa and Ed Oliver with 73s.

Furgol, who started steady play on the tournament route in 1948, has won only the Houston Open and the Western Open, both in 1951.

Betty Hicks of Culver City, Calif., paced the Women's Open with a par 76. Patty Berg of Chicago, and Betty Jameson of San Antonio, Tex., trailed by one stroke.

Babe Zaharias, who underwent an operation for a malignant growth on last April and was making her first tournament start, was discouraged with a 45, seven over par, on the first nine. But after an intermission snack she cut one stroke off par on the return nine with a 37.

John Levinson of Chicago led among the men amateurs with a four-under-par 68. Dick Collard of New Orleans had a 72, and favorite Frank Stranahan of Toledo, O., 74.

Two Champions Ready To Defend Tank Titles

Defending champions dot the entry lists for tonight's Sunday Journal and Star Swimming Tournament.

Titleholders who have entered the 1953 extravaganza are Donna Yungbult, junior girls champion, and Jim Kost, co-champ in boys prep competition last season.

Pat Drake, who shared the prep boys' title with Kost last year, is too old for competition in that age bracket this year.

• • •

ACTIVITY gets under way at 7 p.m. at Muny Pool.

There will be 16 events involving junior boys and girls and prep boys and girls.

The Sunday Journal and Star will award trophies to the top scorers in all four classes.

Events:

50-yard free style for all divisions.

100-yard breastroke for junior boys and junior girls.

50-yard breast stroke for prep boys and prep girls.

100-yard free style for junior boys and junior girls.

100-yard backstroke for junior boys and junior girls.

50-yard backstroke for prep boys and prep girls.

Diving (three optional, three required) for prep boys and girls.

Diving (four optional, four required) for junior boys and girls.

Special to The Journal

YORK—York whipped Sutton, 5-3, and Aurora blanked Stromsburg, 2-0, to tangle up the top in the Cornhusker baseball League.

The combination sent, York, Sutton and Stromsburg into a three-way tie for the loop lead.

Roger Bottorff, ex-Lincoln High pitcher, set Sutton down with seven scattered hits to pitch York's Braves to their win over Sutton. Bob Schneider had a triple and Manager Cleo (Tank) Campbell a double and single to pace the winners' batting attack.

Don Geery unleashed a triple for Sutton, whose ace chucker Lefty Israelson was sent showerward in the third.

Utica lost a 10-inning tilt to Geneva in the other game, 11-8. Catcher Roy Strong cracked out a triple in the tenth to cinch the win in the extra inning.

Wahoo Barely Nips Schuyler

WAHOO — Wahoo's Pioneer Nite League entry came through with a single run in the eighth inning to nip Schuyler 4-3.

Pat Gottsch and Irv Heldt were the batting stars for Wahoo, each collecting a pair of singles. Don Claussen had three for three for Schuyler.

State Tennis Semis on Tap

Entering the home stretch—the semi-finals — the State Tennis Tournament renews a full-time basis at the Lincoln Tennis Club Saturday.

Pairings for the semi-finals have been announced with two outstanding men's singles matches hogging the spotlight.

Brothers Frank and Fred Pisasale of Omaha are featured in the matches. Frank, defending state singles champ, tangles with Lincoln's Jim Porter, runner-up last year, in one match.

Frank Pisasale mixes with Bob Radin of Linconl in the other match. Radin, a graduate of the University of Nebraska and coach of Nebraska Wesleyan's net team last year, is considered a prime prospect for the title. He is a new member of the LTC and has displayed outstanding form in previous matches.

In Thursday competition Lincoln's Neil Unterseher gained the finals of the boys (nuder 15) singles by defeating Bill Arledge, 6-0, 6-1.

In other matches Thursday Lois Cooper and Jack Ringwalt of Omaha defeated Lincoln's Ruth Benzing and Rev. Stanley Siegienski in a mixed doubles match, 7-5, 7-5.

Radin came through with a lengthy 5-7, 7-5, 6-3, victory over Harold Rundle of Lincoln in the outstanding singles match of the week.

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo. (AP)—Norm Brown won his 16th game of the year Thursday night as he pitched the Lincoln Chiefs to an 8-4 victory over the slumping Colorado Springs Sky Sox.

McQuillen

It was the Sox fourth straight loss and dropped them to 2½ games behind the pace setting Denver Bears.

The game broke open in the sixth when starter Walt Yowell of The Springs walked Joe Rivich and gave up successive singles to Jack Caro, Dick Willis and Brown. Two runs scored which gave the Chiefs a 4-3 margin.

Then in the seventh they added another talley on a walk and Caro's double. They tallied three times more in the ninth off the Sox third pitcher, lefty Tom Breisinger. Glen McQuillen highlighted the frame with a two-run homer.

Yowell took the loss, his fourth against five wins.

Probable pitchers for a doubleheader today are Bill Denney (3-4) and Andy Bush (6-6) for Lincoln against Bill Rose (12-5) and Bob Kerce (2-2).

Injured Linden Home to Lincoln

Walt Linden, Lincoln's ace catcher, is on his way home for treatment ofa n injured knee. He will arrive in the Capital City sometime early Saturday.

The injury cropped up in the Omaha series before the team departed for Colorado, but at the time it was not considered sufficient to require medication. Linden is expected to be ready for more action behind the plate when the Chiefs return home Aug. 8.

Another player, Outfielder Danny Holden, is also sidelined with an injury—a wrenched back. He is staying with the club on the road.

Lincoln Elks to Clash With Hot Hastings '9'

DICK HERGENRADER—Half of Elks' no-hit combo.

HASTINGS—Tension mounts in the American Legion district baseball tournament here tonight when Lincoln's Elks nine mixes it up with the highly regarded Hastings team.

Both squads picked up victories in the tourney Thursday night.

Lincoln defeated Falls City, 7-1, behind the no-hit pitching of Bill Bergstrasser and Dick Hergenrader. Hastings clobbered Fairbury, 10-3.

• • •

LINCOLN and Hastings have met before this season with the Elks, defending state champions, yet to win a decision from the unbeaten Hastings crew.

One of the games went to Hastings, 2-1, which shows how close tonight's battle could be.

Thursday, Lincoln showed to best advantage. Manager Fran Nagle's team combined superb pitching with adequate hitting to drop Falls City. Gerry Smith, classy Elk shortstop, saved the no hitter with a diving catch of Wayne Daugherty's hard grounder in the sixth. He flipped to first in time to retire the Falls City left fielder.

Only two of Lincoln's runs were earned, chiefly due to eight Falls City errors. Lincoln started the scoring in the opening frame when Packy Young walked and later scored on Jim Maul's single. After Cliff Hardesty walked, both he and Maul scored on an error.

Yankees Have New—Yankees Have—Yankees—WOW!!!

NEW YORK (AP)—Are the New York Yankees using a 3-D secret weapon to help win their fifth American League pennant?

The rattled Cleveland Indians, beaten twice in a row prior to Thursday, weren't making any flat accusations. But some observers felt they were entitled to at least an official protest against the Yankees for distracting tactics.

These tactics were built—and the word is used advisedly—around a third dimensional blonde bombshell, unidentified, and strategically stationed in the Section Five box seats at Yankee Stadium.

This, it is necessary to add, is in full view of the playing field.

Wednesday the curvacious customer was given an assist—by all but the official scorer—in the Yankees' 7-3 victory over the Indians.

• • •

THE INDIANS clipped Vic Raschi for three runs in the second inning and appeared moving along just fine.

Then the 3-D secret weapon, said by one observant journalist to make Marilyn Monroe look like a "poor, undernourished girl," got up and pranced up the aisle in an arresting, low-cut pink dress.

There was a round of wolf whistles. The Indians' bench as a man turned out to gawk. Even the players on the field turned temporarily to see what was the matter. Cleveland Pitcher Bob Lemon walked two men in a row and then gave up a single. And a run was in.

More wolf whistles in the third. Then just as Lemon prepared to pitch to the Yankees in the bottom half of the sixth, the lady went into her act again.

Up the aisle and back again. Cheers and wolf whistles. She paused as she reached her seat, waved and smiled at the crowd.

The inning ended. Yankees, four runs. That was it. The vision in pink got up and left—her mission accomplished.

No comment from the Indians, but a Yankee official said:

"We just sell the tickets and we don't have measuring tape restrictions for those who buy them. If a pretty customer wants to wear a low cut gown and walk up the aisles, well, that's out of our province."

I May Be Wrong

By Walt Dobbins
Journal Sports Editor

As a punk kid we saw our first professional baseball at the old M Street Park.

How did the kids get into the ball game in those days?

The best way was to shag a foul ball (many of them fell into the backyard of the Dean family (Jim and Bill were later friends of mine, the former at the LCC and the latter as custodian at Trinity Methodist Evangelical Church where we played our first basketball under the direction of Channing Collins).

Later I hobnobbed with Howard Gregory, Carl East, "Buff" Ehman, Walt Carlisle, Davey Lloyd and Willis Cole, to mention only a few and would often get a chance to slip through the gate near the clubhouse.

If everything else failed, you could still get an A-1 bleacher seat for two bits.

I had always been under the impression that "Ducky" Holmes' teams drew pretty well and the other day while checking over some old files, I ran across an attendance story.

Although it concerned the 1906 season which is some six or eight years earlier than when I first became attracted to the sport, the figures are nevertheless interesting.

In 22 home games up to July 8, Lincoln had drawn 38,600 fans and ranked second in the league behind Omaha which showed 51,000 admissions for 26 contests. Des Moines had drawn 49,800 in 29 dates; Sioux City, 37,600 in 26, Denver, 29,590 in 28 and Pueblo, 30,650 in 31 home stands.

Lincoln's average was 1,755, only slightly under 200 less per game than "Pa" O'Rourke's Omaha club.

Omaha-Lincoln Bitter Rivals

The Omaha-Lincoln rivalry was intense in the old days and the clubs were the top drawing cards in both parks.

Several things helped baseball in the old days.

In the first place, there were not many other forms of recreation. Golfing was confined to the Country Club crowd on the old links at 7th and Washington and aside from foot, cycle and trotting races there were few other summertime sports.

Most old time fans will recall the "Bull Durham" sign on the rightfield fence at the M Street Park which was patrolled in my early days mostly by Paul Cobb and later Ty Lober. Big "Moose" McCormick was our home run king.

I barely remember Eddie Gagnier but Marty Berghammer and "Snooks" McGaffigan were fine shortstops. "Sadie" Quillen was near the end of his playing days and the first sackers that stand out in my mind were Charley Mullen, "Pug" Griffin and Ray Schmandt. Later on Harry Williams and just beyond my reach, Jack Thomas.

Great Defensive Outfield

I still think one of the best fielding outfields in the business was that of Walter Carlisle, Artie Thomason and Lober. Some pretty fair catchers were Del Baker, "Dad" Rohrer, "Hick" Johnson.

Ball players were different in those days. They talked, played and slept baseball. They were a happy-go-lucky lot, all underpaid if judged by present standards.

It seems to me that they scrapped harder for a victory. Holmes was a fiery pilot who never mellowed even in later years when he managed briefly at Beatrice in the old Nebraska State loop.

The last time I saw "Ducky" was at Landis Field one afternoon seated with Jack Holland who owned the Oklahoma City club at that time. Then there was Frank Isbell at Wichita; and Jack Henricks of Denver.

All have long since passed on.

Pitching the Sports Shot

In the recent death of Harry W. Hughes, retired athletic director and grid coach at Colorado A & M, football lost one of its most beloved personalities. He was 65 and had been at Ft. Collins for 41 years. We had the pleasure of meeting Harry many times, the first as I recall, being in Denver in 1931, when his team played the Cornhuskers in a post-season charity game in the DU stadium.

Jake Thies, Denver chucker, recently tied the modern Western League record of nine consecutive victories . . . Understand Lee (Sadie) McQuillen is still living in St. Paul, Minn.

After being out of the old Western loop (called the Western Association 1894-95) Lincoln inherited the St. Joseph, Mo., franchise in 1906 and was a member through the 1919 campaign. . . . The Capitol City rejoined the circuit in 1924 and lost its franchise to Pueblo after the 1927 campaign. Then came a 20-year span of semi-pro and Nebraska State League ball until the current Western was reorganized in 1947.

Eddie Cicotte, a member of the 1919 Chicago Black Sox, performed for Des Moines and Lincoln in the old Western. He won 22 and lost 16 for the Ducklings in 1907 and was sold to the Boston Red Sox for $2,500 by Manager "Ducky" Holmes.

I see where Rex Layne has been dropped from the list of heavyweight contenders by Ring Magazine . . . An alleged middleweight aspirant, Bobby Dykes, was dropped because of poor performances his last few times out . . . He never belonged in the first place . . . Ezzard Charles is listed as No. 1 contender for Rocky Marciano's crown with Roland LaStarza in the second spot . . .

Twenty years ago this week Fred Perry of England defeated Henri Cochet of France for the Davis Cup crown . . . Art Daley, sportsed of the New York Times is celebrating a birthday today. . . . Better pick up those 1953 Husker football tickets—Deadline is Aug. 20.

'Bad Boy' Martin Says He Doesn't Want Any Trouble

NEW YORK (AP)—Billy Martin would like to know why he's known as "the bad boy of baseball."

The second baseman of the New York Yankees, in his brief 3-year big league career, has had more fights than many married couples, but he insists he never started one in his life.

"They gave me a reputation as a fighter," was the way Billy put it, "and now every guy and his brother is trying to make me earn it. Sure I've had some fights on the field but I never started any of them. The other day in Detroit, Matt Batts tagged me at the plate then banged me on the nose with the ball while I was lying on the ground. What was I supposed to do? Say "Thank You?" (Batts apologized to Martin).

• • •

"I DON'T know what it is. Maybe it is my face. Maybe it's because I am such a skinny little guy. But somebody wants to take a crack at me. I don't go around looking for fights, but neither do I back away from one. The Good Lord hates a coward.

"I am not complaining, mind you. I can take care of myself. But what gripes me is the way fans always are ready and eager to boo me. Not in New York. For what they cheer me in New York I get booed in Chicago, Boston and St. Louis."

"They call me a rowdy and dirty player," he said Thursday in the quiet of the clubhouse after the Yankees played the Cleveland Indians.

"Why? Because I play aggressive baseball? I challenge those fans who boo me to show me just once where I deliberately did anything dirty or went out of my way to hurt anyone.

"Just once.

• • •

"WHEN I was a little shaver, people kept telling me that if I wanted to succeed, I would have to play hard, aggressive baseball. I've always played hard but I've always played clean. I've always thought that's the way the fans want to see the game played. It looks like I've been mistaken.

"They claim ballplayers today are sisses. I say it's the fans who are sisses. The other day I slid hard into Ray Boone trying to break up a double play. You should have seen the stack of letters I received the next day calling me a dirty rotten player. You'd think I had committed a crime. I wonder what they would have said if I had just let him tag me or had brushed off his pants after he got up.

"Every city we go into fans holler at me, hey Martin, who are you going to start a fight with today? Or watch out Martin. Here comes Courtney (or Batts, or Piersall, or Bucha). I can't understand it. I've always thought people admired you for sticking up for your rights.

"I am getting used to the jeers. But when they booed me in Detroit last week, that was quite a shock. Why, that is the town where great Ty Cobb was so loved and idolized. Why? Because he was the most aggressive player who ever lived. He never gave the other fellow an inch and fought for everything he got. And here they boo me for trying to play the style of ball he played."

Robin Roberts of the Phillies and Gerry Staley of the Cardinals have each defeated every other National League club at least once this year.

Bear Catcher Makes Jump From Stanford University

DENVER (UP)—Within the short space of one month, 21-year-old Jack Shepard has made the big jump from Stanford University to Class A baseball and shows promise of eventually making the grade with the Pittsburgh Pirates.

Right now, the six-foot-two, 195-pound Denver Bears catcher is batting just short of .400. He knows it will take more than 30 professional games to prove himself, and Manager Andy Cohen of the Bears thinks his inflated average is bound to decline.

• • •

BUT COHEN and Denver's rivals in the Western League are "high" on Shepard's promise as a hitter and a receiver.

"Shepard is a good major league prospect," the squat manager said, "and I wouldn't hesitate to put a 'can't miss' label on him if he improves his throwing."

Cohen is not alone in his regard for Shepard's ability. Eight major league clubs and three Pacific Coast League teams sought the services of the Fresno, Calif., youth before Branch Rickey signed him for Pittsburgh.

"I narrowed my final choice to three clubs—the Cardinals, White Sox and the Pirates," Shepard said. "I chose Pittsburgh because I believe Mr. Rickey will have a winning ball club in a few years—and I want to be on it.

"Pittsburgh presents a bigger opportunity for a young catcher."

THE WELL-PROPORTIONED slugger won't go hungry if he fails to make the majors.

"I received my bachelor of arts in general education at Stanford this spring, and plan to continue toward a master's in business there this fall," he said. "It all depends on how I do in this game of baseball. Otherwise I will go into industrial relations."

Cohen rates Shepard high as a prospect for the Pittsburgh catching job because of his "take charge" attitude, slugging power and ability to handle pitchers.

The last young player so rated by Cohen was Bill Bruton, now the Milwaukee Braves' regular centerfielder.

Shepard has averaged nearly one run-batted-in per game with Denver. He believes his best performance with Denver was at Omaha the night he drove in four runs with a homer and a bases-loaded single, enabling Denver to win, 6-4. He also hit a home run, a double and a single to lead the Bears to another victory at Pueblo.

Ted Will Be Dinner Guest

BOSTON (AP)—Admirers of Red Sox Slugger Ted Williams will get a chance to welcome him back in style and help fight cancer among youngsters at the same time at a big $100-a-plate testimonial Aug. 17.

Boston's noted "Jimmy Fund" will get the proceeds.

A $100 contribution to the fund, sponsored by the Variety Club of New England and the Boston Red Sox, will bring a ticket by return mail.

Topflight stars of stage, screen, radio, television and sports will be on hand to honor the lanky star who twice has doffed his baseball togs for Marine greens.

The "Jimmy Fund" is used for research in children's cancer.

Coaches Not Worried About One-Way Stars

NEW YORK (AP)—Don't worry about last year's two-platoon All-America football players under the new substitution rules which make the college fall sport a two-way game again this fall.

Three of the 22 super stars named to the Associated Press offensive and defensive All-American teams last year were juniors and will be back this year. They are Paul Giel of Minnesota, Johnny Lattner of Notre Dame and Steve Eisenhauer of Navy.

• • •

LATTNER WAS a two-way right halfback for the Irish last year, playing 422 minutes of a possible 600 minutes on Notre Dame's gruelling schedule.

Besides making more than his share of tackles on defense, he ran, blocked and handled the punting.

Giel only played on offense last year, passing, running and punting.

Eisenhauer played guard only on defense in 1952. But Eddie Erdelatz said that was because the Middie did not need him on defense.

Notre Dame Coach Frank Leahy said the new rule won't affect Littner and commented: "He likes to tackle and that's the sign of a real football player."

Minnesota coach Wes Fesler isn't worried about Giel's defensive play.

"He is bound to make mistakes, but he is a fine competitor and we have confidence he will hold up his end," Fesler said.

Fesler didn't get a look at Giel on defense in spring practice because the big righthander also is a top flight pitcher on the baseball team.

He's good enough to bring major league scouts running with fountain pen in hand.

AAU Tourney In Hastings

HASTINGS—Residents of the Hastings area will have the opportunity of seeing some of the finest swimmers in the nation Saturday when two National Junior AAU championship events and an Open Meet will be held in Hastings' Aquacourt. Admission will be free for both the afternoon preliminaries and the evening finals.

Under the sponsorship of the Hastings Chamber of Commerce Athletic Committee, the days activities will bring to Hastings swimmers from leading metropolitan centers as well as from Mexico.

The Hastings Aquacourt will be closed to public swimming the entire day Saturday because of the meet.

"We are very pleased with the entry list" announced Athletic Committee Chairman Fran Pedersen. "Royal Thomas and his committee have made lane and heat assignments, Jerry Maskie and his committee are arranging for the presentation of awards, Earl Flanagan is arranging for reception, and head official Tom McLaughlin is handling the meet officials. We should have an outstanding meet, and we hope everyone will plan to see these top-notch swimmers while they are in Hastings."

Young Lincoln Golfers Lose

Compiled From News Wires

TULSA, Okla.—Nebraska's two entries in the U.S. Junior Golf Association tournament, Mark Taber and Bob Anderson, both of Lincoln, were eliminated in second and third round matches here Thursday as the field was pared from the 128 that played in the first round to 16.

Taber dropped out in the second round when he was defeated, 2 and 1, by Joseph M. Grace of Detroit.

Anderson won out over David L. Adams, Laguna Beach, Calif., 1 up, in the second, but in the third round fell victim to Billy Green, Midland, Tex., 4 and 2.

Green is one of three entrants favored to win the tourney.

Both of the Lincoln youths won their first round matches Wednesday. The second round was played Thursday morning, the third Thursday afternoon.

Crosby Clarifies Adjustments

Tax Levies Apply to Only Half of Value

Gov. Robert Crosby is endeavoring to clear up misunderstanding about the State Board of Equalization's widespread adjustment of tax assessments.

Crosby said a visit from officials of an unnamed eastern Nebraska county had shown him there was misunderstanding concerning the increase ordered by the State Board.

* * *

FOR EXAMPLE, the assessments of town lots in Lancaster County were raised 19 per cent.

Take a $10,000 home in Lincoln.

In the past this home has been assessed at $3,400 for tax purposes.

Because of the new 50 per cent law, County Assessor Arthur Davis raised the "actual" value of the house to $6,800. But tax levies applied against only half that value, or $3,400.

* * *

THE STATE Board's action meant an increase of 19 per cent on the $3,400.

This amounts to $646.

Added to $3,400, it means the taxable valuation of the $10,000 home will be $4,046.

Crosby had explained before that all the changes were "conservative.

* * *

THE GOVERNOR said another misunderstanding arose from the word "equalization" itself.

He said equalization does not mean that land is to be valued at exactly the same price per acre in Cherry County as in Lancaster. It means that cheaper land in Cherry is to bear the same proportion of taxes to its worth as good land in Lancaster carries in relation to what it is worth.

Harlan Reports Error

Harlan County came to the State Board of Equalization Thursday with an admission and a problem.

County officials said there had been a mistake in certifying the amount of farm land in Harlan County.

Sen. Coffey

County Assessor L. A. Freeman of Alma said that inadvertently he had included on his abstract 31,840 acres of land which has been sold to the federal government for the Harlan County Reservoir. Thus 352,000 was counted instead of 320,000 acres.

State Sen. Tom Coffey of Alma, who accompanied the county officials, explained that when the state tax commissioner's office figured the land value this gave a $27 per acre figure. He said such a low figure would obviously indicate a raise.

Knocking out the extra land listed would make about $2 million difference in valuations, Coffey estimated.

The State Board increased Harlan County farmland valuations by 78 per cent. If the reservoir land were not included, Coffey said the increase should only be about 25 per cent.

Also in the visiting group were County Attorney D. A. Russell and Board Chairman George Pohlenz, both of Alma.

Fairmont Carrier Has Service Rule

Richard Maulsby, a Journal carrier in Fairmont, has found that good service works both ways.

A seventh-grader Richard early discovered that service kept his route business growing. Now, he takes a four-week profit of $12.50 which goes toward a new bicycle, school supplies, recreation, and savings.

Richard Maulsby

Richard's No. 1 service rule is simple. He just puts his customers' Journal in the same place by the door at the same time every day.

Richard, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Glen Maulsby, finds that in addition to profits, he is able to gain practical experience in basic business on his Journal route. He is responsible for selling, collecting, and delivering.

Any young man interested in carrying a Lincoln Journal route in his town may receive information by writing the circulation department of The Journal.

Kokes Elected to FHA Committee at Ord

Special to The Journal

ORD — Rudolph Kokes, a farmer who lives near here, has been elected to a three-year term as county committeeman for the Farmers Home Administration.

He succeeds Ign Pokraka of North Loup.

Kokes joins Frank Blaha and Allen Dobson, both of Ord, already on the committee. Donald Krick, also of Ord, is the county FHA supervisor.

Omahans Incorporate

Sunshine, Inc., to engage in real estate, filed incorporation papers with the secretary of state Thursday. G. Steinert and R. Cohen were incorporators of the $10,000 Omaha concern.

Jail Escaper Gets Year in Pen

ALLIANCE, Neb. (AP)—Arden Fuller, 26, of Hayes Center, has been sentenced to serve one year in the State Penitentiary after pleading guilty to a charge of breaking jail and custody June 22 at Valentine.

Fuller also pleaded guilty to issuing a no-fund check, the charge on which he was held when he escaped from the Cherry County jail, but sentencing on this charge was deferred by District Judge E. L. M. Meyer.

Cherry County Sheriff William C. Freeman said Fuller dug a hole through the floor of the bullpen in the county jail and escaped.

Water Shortage Forces Curtailment at Verdon

VERDON (AP)—Verdon residents have been requested to confine water consumption to that used for drinking, cooking and bathing.

It was believed a clogged screen curtailed the flow of water from the village well. Families are taking their washing to country homes to beat the water shortage.

Capt. Clark Returns

SEATTLE (AP)—Capt. Jack M. Clark of Grand Island was among passengers aboard the USNS Gen. W. C. Darby which arrived here from the Far East.

Re-hearing Requested

Ellis Nolen Phillips, whose 10-year penitentiary sentence from Douglas County for burglary was upheld July 10 by the State Supreme Court, has asked for a re-hearing.

Lawson to Head AFL Politicking

Officers for the forthcoming year have been elected at a meeting of Labor's League for Political Education.

The group, the political branch of the American Federation of Labor, also laid preliminary plans for league work during the 1954 Congressional elections. Elected were:

Frank Lawson, president.
Joseph P. Schneider, vice president.
Dale Peate, secretary.
Mrs. Christine Schneider, treasurer.
O. J. Hawk, sergeant-at-arms.
John E. Frahm, W. A. Cooke, Ralph Clarence, and Kenneth Lewis, trustees.

CAP Breakfast At North Platte

NORTH PLATTE (AP) — Civil Air Patrol units from South Dakota, Wyoming, Kansas, Nebraska and Colorado have been invited to a local CAP cadet squadron breakfast here Aug. 9.

The breakfast will start a day's program in honor of the squadron of the CAP organized recently here.

The Flying Farmers of Nebraska also have been invited.

Regional and national CAP officials have been invited.

Most Auditorium Signatures Good

Auditorium repeal petitions are checking out approximately 85 per cent good, according to Election Commissioner Harold Gillett. Of the first 379 checked, 322 were found to correspond exactly with the registration status.

This makes it appear certain, Gillett said, that the required number of 2,330 names will be checked before the entire list of 4,562 is scanned.

Ponca Favors Highway As Is

PONCA—The Ponca Chamber of Commerce has adopted a resolution in favor of retaining the present location of Highway 35 between Wakefield and Wayne.

The state is planning to move the highway two miles south of its present location.

President Russell Fleury said Ponca businessmen believe the highway at its present location serves the interests of most northeast Nebraskans.

Stolen 'Snort' Costs Man $25

A Lincoln dishwasher, thirsty but broke, admitted he took a half-pint of rum from a liquor store.

"Pretty expensive rum," Lancaster County Judge Herbert A. Ronin observed as he levied a fine of $25.

The man, David F. Bush, 62, of the Grand Hotel, pleaded guilty to petit larceny.

Wheeler County School Issue Fails

BARTLETT (AP)—A 205-191 vote favoring a $225,000 bond issue for a new Wheeler County High School was insufficient to carry the issue. The favorable vote lacked 11 votes of the required 55 per cent majority.

Loading of Rockets at Grand Island Delayed

GRAND ISLAND (AP) — Loading of 4.2 inch rockets on Line 2 of the Cornhusker Ordnance Plant here has been suspended temporarily while results of a change in assembly procedure are being tested and for installation of new equipment.

Lt. Col. L. H. Prather, commanding officer at the plant, said results of the change of assembly are being tested at the ordnance proving grounds in Indiana.

Bible Meet Near Maxwell

MAXWELL (AP) — A national convention of the Rural Bible Crusade will be held Aug. 1-6 at the Maranatha Bible Camp near here.

C&O Increases Central Holdings

Chesapeake & Ohio Railway announced the acquisition of an additional 155 259 shares of New York Central common stock

Walter J Tuohy, president of the C&O said that a further appraisal of the progress made by New York Central and its outlook led to a decision by C&O directors to increase the company's holdings of New York Central's common stock by 155 259 shares

This investment increases C&O's interest in New York Central to 800,000 shares, or 12½ per cent of total outstanding stock

Funds for this purchase became available largely through a favorable settlement of prior years' federal income taxes, Tuohy said

Reds Confiscate Food Packs

BERLIN (AP)—Communist police Friday began mass confiscation of U S gift food parcels which hungry East Germans are bringing back from free West Berlin.

The confiscation campaign began at the big rail terminal in Potsdam, southwest of Berlin, where the Red police intercepted hundreds of persons returning with the food The Potsdam station was surrounded by police and the food bearers were herded into an empty room and stripped of their gifts

West Berlin police immediately began broadcasting warnings to East Germans to avoid the Potsdam station and try to get home by other routes

* * *

THE CONFISCATION began just as West Berlin officials announced they had upped their target to three million free food parcels for the East Germans Food stations in the Western sectors braced for a week end invasion from the East that was expected to boost the first week's distributions past two million

The Communists began seizing the food packages after a campaign of threats and propaganda failed to keep the hungry Russian-zone population from streaming to West Berlin to receive the American-sponsored gifts.

Since Monday nearly 800,000 parcels have been distributed to persons coming from the farthest corners of the Soviet zone Friday tens of thousands of East Germans — including old, sick and crippled recipients—stood patiently in line for hours to collect the prized fats, flour, and milk distributed

* * *

COMMUNIST POLICE also toured factories, offices and homes in the Russian-controlled zone forcing people to sign pledges they would "not go to Berlin for the American beggar parcels Many signers were expected to come anyway

Saturday and Sunday were expected to bring huge excursions of factory workers, defying their Communist trade union leaders to come and fetch the food gift on their holidays.

Original plans for the distribution called for giving away one million parcels in a two-week campaign with provision for a second million "if the first distribution was successful"

Many of the 60 food stations again worked through the night, handing out parcels as fast as they could be packed Hundreds, including many war crippled, waited patiently in the four-abreast queues through the night Others bedded down on newspapers spread on the pavement, or dozed pillowed against their knapsacks

Firms Credited With $669,000

More than 6 000 Nebraska firms have been credited with $669 000 by the State Division of Employment Security in 1952 interest payments by the federal government on the state's $40 million unemployment insurance trust fund in the federal treasury

Interest credit notices, ranging from $1 11 to $13 457 have been mailed to 6 036 Nebraska firms The notices inform the firms that their individual reserve account has been credited with its share of the interest payment

Prior to this year the interest payments had been accrued to the trust fund in the federal treasury

Amendments to the state employment security law, passed by the 1953 Legislature now provide that each firm's individual experience account, upon which the firm's jobless pay tax is based shall be credited each year with the amount of federal interest earned by each account

The interest credit cannot be used by the firm to pay current taxes but will be used by the division in computing the firm's future tax rates

YOU CAN TAKE A BIG STEP
WHILE SITTING ON THE FLOOR.

That sounds like an assignment for an acrobat doesn't it? The fact is though, that it is not hard to do

We are referring to the old American method of spreading the Want Ad pages of the newspaper on the floor and reading every ad in search of a wanted item to fill an urgent need

Uncounted millions of families have found the home of their desires in this manner. And buying a home is the biggest step most families ever take

Other numberless millions have found the automobile of their choice in this manner Buying an automobile is a big step too

Still others have found building lots, jobs, appliances, furniture and hundreds of other needs by reading the Want Ads

What do you need? Have you read the Journal-Star Want Ad pages to find it? What do you have to sell? Have you used the Journal-Star Classified pages to sell it?

Aid to Build City Schools Doubted

Lincoln probably cannot qualify for federal aid to school construction, even in view of a new Senate action.

However, 53 Nebraska schools could be affected by the new measure.

These were the opinions of F. B. Decker, state superintendent of schools, and Don Bush, superintendent of school building services, when they learned the Senate had $84½ million for federal aid to school construction in areas which have had heavy population increases because of defense work.

In order to qualify for federal aid under the old law (PL 815), schools had to show an increase over the year 1939 in average daily attendance.

* * *

BECAUSE 1939 represents an all-time enrollment high in Nebraska schools, most schools in the state could not qualify under PL 815 except for very small amounts of aid.

Lincoln has not yet qualified under the instruction law which is a companion measure to PL 815, a facilities law. Under the instruction law (PL 874), a school must have at least 3 per cent average daily attendance of federally-connected children.

Bush pointed out that more than 400 federally-connected students would have to be enrolled in Lincoln schools for the city to qualify under PL 874. At present there are only about 300.

* * *

AS SOON as large numbers of Air Force personnel move into Lincoln the number of federally connected pupils is expected to increase considerably.

For the 53 state schools which do qualify under PL 874, the exact wording of the new bill will determine the extent of federal aid for school construction.

If the year specified in PL 815 has been changed from 1939, some state schools will become eligible.

Another consideration is furnishing proof that the school has insufficient classrooms for children who have enrolled as a result of federal activity.

* * *

AREAS OF greatest federal impact in the state were named as Omaha, Sidney, Grand Island, Mead, Hastings, and towns along the Republican River where Bureau of Reclamation projects are being carried out.

Bush pointed out that Nebraska is, at present, "not hard-pressed for school facilities."

Inefficient Burglars Do Work for Nothing

YUBA CITY, Calif. (AP)—Burglars stole a small safe, knocked a hole in the bottom but failed to reach its contents.

They abandoned the safe on a lonely ranch road.

When it was found, Sheriff G. W. Carpenter fished out more than $5,000 in currency through the small hole.

The currency and the safe were returned to the owner.

'Shampoo' Should Give Hair Gloss

HYDRO, Okla. (AP)—It was enough to make Mrs. Tom Dunn's hair stand on end.

Starting to shampoo her hair, Mrs. Dunn reached for a bottle of pink shampoo on the shelf and doused it liberally on her head. But the usually foamy stuff wouldn't lather, so she poured on some more.

Still no lather—and her hair began to turn wiry and stiff. She looked at the bottle again. It was pink, all right, but was clearly labelled "furniture polish."

Roof Tree

KENTLAND, Ind. (AP) — When Wilbur Hays looked out of his window during a violent windstorm he saw a 40-foot limb of a nearby tree sailing through the air, but couldn't see where it landed. Later, he found it balanced perfectly atop the roof of his house.

No Fuel for Drunks?

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP)—Highway Patrol Commissioner Bernard Caldwell declared service stations should not sell gasoline to drunken drivers.

July Traffic Toll in State 38 Lives

Failing to reach expectations was one of the nicest things that could have happened to Nebraskans during July—particularly so when the expectations were that 50 persons would be killed on the state highways.

With July only half over, 25 persons had been killed, and the Safety Patrol had said that it was possible for the month to set a new record in traffic deaths; but on the last day of July it was happy to report that instead of 50 the death count was 38.

Although below expectations, the 38 death count was still among the high months on record for fatalities. Last year, 35 died in July. Twenty-one deaths were recorded in 1951; 27 in 1950; 28 in 1949, and 39 in 1948, the records show, during July.

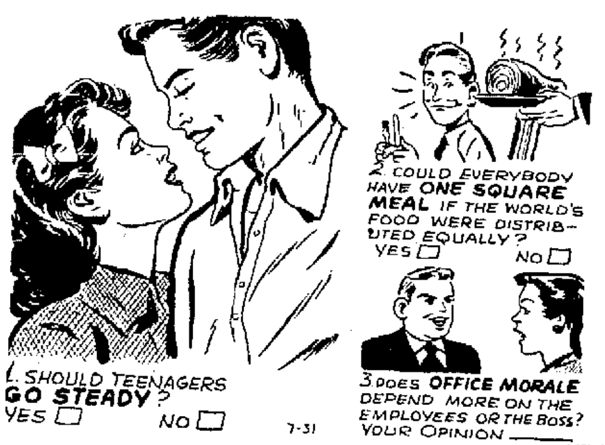
LET'S EXPLORE YOUR MIND

BY ALBERT EDWARD WIGGAM, D.Sc.



1. SHOULD TEENAGERS GO STEADY?
YES ☐ NO ☐
2. COULD EVERYBODY HAVE ONE SQUARE MEAL IF THE WORLD'S FOOD WERE DISTRIBUTED EQUALLY?
YES ☐ NO ☐
3. DOES OFFICE MORALE DEPEND MORE ON THE EMPLOYEES OR THE BOSS?
YOUR OPINION ______
7-31

1. No. I'm not a love counselor and I only judge by research. Experts agree that going steady under age 18 is unwise. They say you should "play the field" so you can size up persons of the opposite sex. Going steady at any age takes you out of circulation and deprives you and the other fellow of any chance to choose by intelligence instead of emotion.

2. Yes, but we couldn't keep it up. Dr. Robert Hockett recently told 5,000 chemists that in order to give everybody on earth 2,600 calories a day, (a minimum requirement for health) we would have to double the world's food supply immediately. This is a psychological as well as a food problem because hunger is one of the chief causes of war. With 68,000 babies born every day, it looks like 2 out of 3 will go hungry for a long time.

3. On the boss, always. One large company spent many thousands of dollars studying this question. Result: "Morale depends on supervision." The employees were given better lighting, finer rest rooms, more rest periods, vacations with and without pay, etc. Output went up and down. But when the boss was understanding and made employees feel important and free to express themselves, the output always increased — even when the other advantages were taken away.

OF COURSE, PRINCESS SNOWFLOWER, YOUR LIFE HERE IS AS INTRIGUING TO ME AS AMERICA IS TO YOU...
BUT IT IS DISMAL, LOUIS! ALL WINTER WHILE WE ARE SAFELY SNOWED IN, HOGAN TEACHES ME TO BE A GENERAL!
I KNOW CLAUSEWITZ'S PRINCIPLES OF WAR AS WELL AS HOGAN COULD GIVE IT TO ME FROM HIS MEMORY! IT'S AMAZING —AND I HATE IT!
...BUT YOU MUST BE IMPRESSED BY HOGAN'S LOYALTY TO YOUR CAUSE!
I SUPPOSE SO, BUT I WOULD RATHER HE HAD SHOWN IT BY TRYING TO KISS ME!

Not This

Father: "He's Ann's baby now—but I'm sure looking forward to the time I can umpire his school ball team and take him fishing with me."

This

Father: "The baby will smile for me quicker than for anyone and helping care for him makes me feel he is my baby as well as Ann's."
